THOMAS J. CROFTS

PRINCIPAL

Every spirit, no matter how elusive, must have some source. The Spirit of Manley can be traced directly to the greatness of our principal. By this token this book of Manley Memories is in reality dedicated to Thomas J. Crofts. He is at once an inspiring leader of both faculty and students, and a kind and understanding friend, always ready to help and counsel. The beautiful campus, the numerous community improvements, and the all-pervading atmosphere of friendliness characteristic of our school are tangible evidences of the courage and perseverance of this man. In Mr. Crofts is embodied the essence of the Spirit of Manley.

"Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain."—Revelation 3:2.

Already our hearts have been saddened by the departure of some from our faculty and student body. They have gone to fight for our protection. It humbles us to think that we have had so little thankfulness for the good days together and for all God's goodness to us. Probably it will not be possible to publish another annual until the war is won. It is important that we strengthen our courage and vision for the future by a backward look over the lasting accomplishments of nine progressive years.

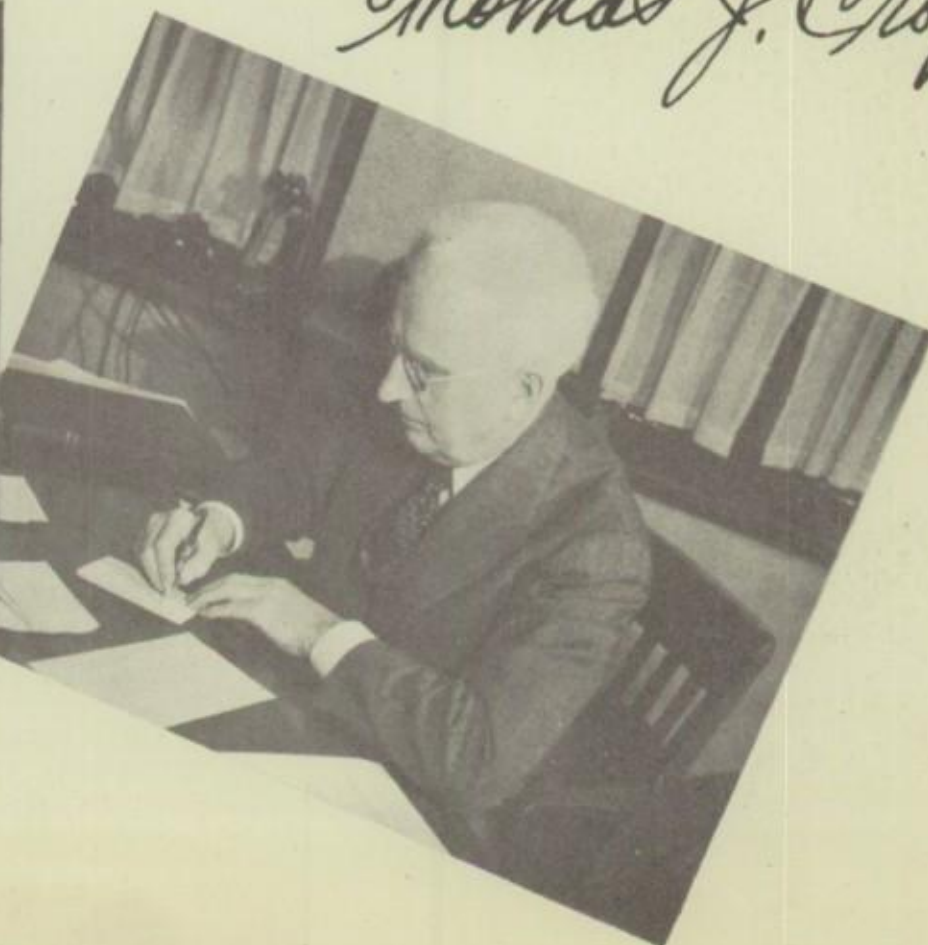

At Manley High, co-operation has come to mean much. It is a way of life. Students and teachers have come to believe in each other; have learned to make plans together; have faced disappointments with determination; and have found new ways to carry on successfully. This is the American way of life.

Improvements have been made each year in the building, in its equipment and on the campus grounds. These have been encouragements. The most important improvement has been the deepening spirit of understanding and confidence between the students, faculty and the engineering staff. A few characteristic quotations will illustrate. A first time assembly visitor remarked, "I feel a friendly spirit here." At the close of an office interview a pupil said: "Don't you think that penalty is rather severe?" A new pupil, a fine player, was trying out for a team. It was found that he was always tricky and disregarded the established Manley rules of fair play. The coach dismissed him with this remark: "We can't use you at Manley." A pupil facing the consequences of continued wrong-doing asked, "How can I give you some assurance that it is worth while to give me one more chance?" The answer was, "Have you established any credit? If so, some teacher who believes in you may be willing to ask leniency for you."

Self-respect, mutual respect, friendly understanding, willing obedience to lawful authority, fair play and reverence toward God, are simple essentials for a real American. God grant that the years of comradeship at Manley may be an inspiration to each student. Let us be Americans in our hearts and in our lives. Thank God for the blessings we have had. May the words from the Bible quoted at the beginning express our earnest purpose for the coming days.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas J. Crofts

Spirit of Manley

Listen to the feet now marching
Up and down through Manley's halls.
Friendly counsel youth is seeking,
Guidance for the work that calls.
Here they find kind understanding,
Courage, here, to do their best.
Citizens, their efforts blending,
Marching on with youthful zest.

See the earnest faces beaming,
As they greet their teacher friends.
Inspiration each is gleaning.
Visions, on which life depends.
Here they find clean, wholesome living
In a pupil brotherhood.
Here they find whole hearted giving,
Each for all, for common good.

—OSCAR L. BEYLER

HARVEY GUNN

Mr. Gunn is our friendly senior advisor. Acting in this capacity, he helps the students with the various problems that confront them. Mr. Gunn's ability to listen attentively to every problem related to him and to offer sage counsel has made him the "Mr. Anthony" of the senior classes.

In addition to his services as senior advisor, Mr. Gunn is the nucleus of the senior social program, which includes class night, recognition day, and commencement. He is an integral part of the spirit of the student-teacher relationship which prevails at Manley.

CECILIE T. BEVIER

Mrs. Bevier, the newest addition to the administrative department, replaced Mr. Adair as placement counselor in January.

The Placement Service assists students in finding employment, and examinations are conducted to determine their aptitudes to the type of work they select. This department functions through the United States Employment Service, which has already placed many Manley students in responsible positions.

In coordination with her position in the placement service, Mrs. Bevier conducts the "Careers" class, through which she counsels the students in deciding on a profession which best suits his needs and capacities.

Mrs. Bevier has prepared herself for counselling and vocational guidance at Northwestern and Chicago Universities.

LOUISE N. WILSON

The spirit of Manley functions through the personnel service, under the competent supervision of Miss Wilson. Through this service, the students' capacities and abilities are ascertained by means of various psychological tests for their self-appraisal and competitive scholarship examinations. The results of these examinations aid the counsellors in advising the students as to their abilities.

Miss Wilson has been personnel supervisor since the establishment of the office in 1937. Her special training in student administration makes itself obvious in the successful management of her department.

Guidance

the student may have. Each problem is given respectful attention and prompt, understanding action.

However, student guidance is not the only duty of the counsellors. They make up a staff to assist Mr. Crofts in solving general school problems, they help draw up the school program, they arrange assemblies, and they supervise extra-curricular activities of their respective class groups. In addition, they have their regular classes to teach. Despite this full schedule, their accomplishments are a credit to Manley.

We are proud of our counsellors.

Loretta O'Connell

Counselors

Although self-reliance is one of the goals striven for here at Manley, there comes a time in every student's high school career when he needs advice. Perhaps he goes to the principal, or to the assistant-principal, or to his division teacher. But it's likelier that he goes to his counsellor, Mr. Harvey B. Gunn if he is a 4A, Mrs. Vega M. Hendrix if he's in 3A or 4B, Miss Loretta O'Connell for 2A or 3B, or Mrs. Agnes E. Richards for 1A or 2B.

Counsellors interview students with problems on programming, credits, subjects, extra-curricular activities, assemblies, failure cards, and any other kind of difficulty

Commencement

Each year more young people leave the cocoon of comparative shelter to try their new found wings. Their mode of living changes; they enter a different kind of existence upon graduation from high school. No longer does life hinge upon the assimilation of book knowledge, petty personal victories, and the vicissitudes of adolescence. When we receive a diploma we are receiving a license to practice in actuality what we have accepted as truths from our teachers in theory. We need not blindly accept the truths propounded by others — we have broken the chains of intellectual dependence, and emerge free to discover and prove these truths for ourselves. Graduation is aptly called commencement, for being graduated from high school is truly a beginning.

The student might do well to ponder the words of the poet who says,

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul

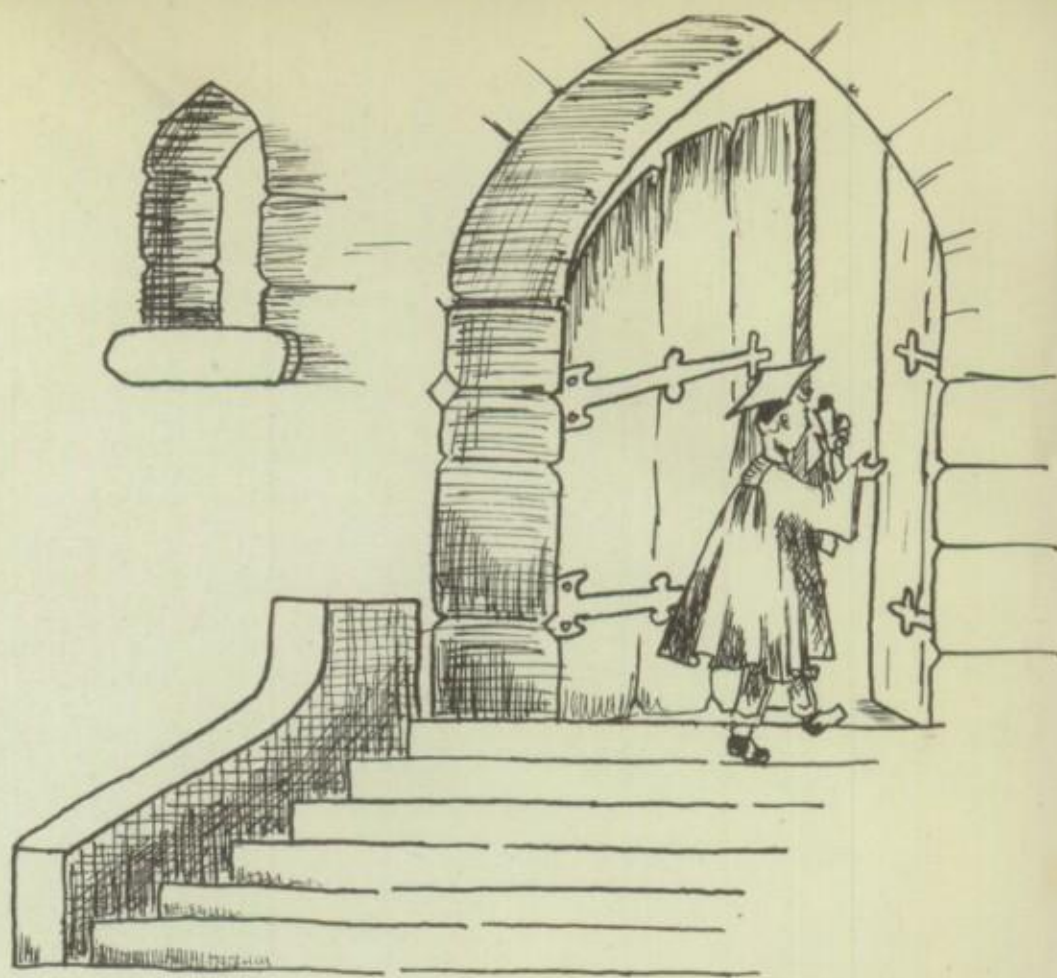

As the swift seasons roll

Leave thy low-vaulted past!

Let each new temple, nobler than the last

Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast

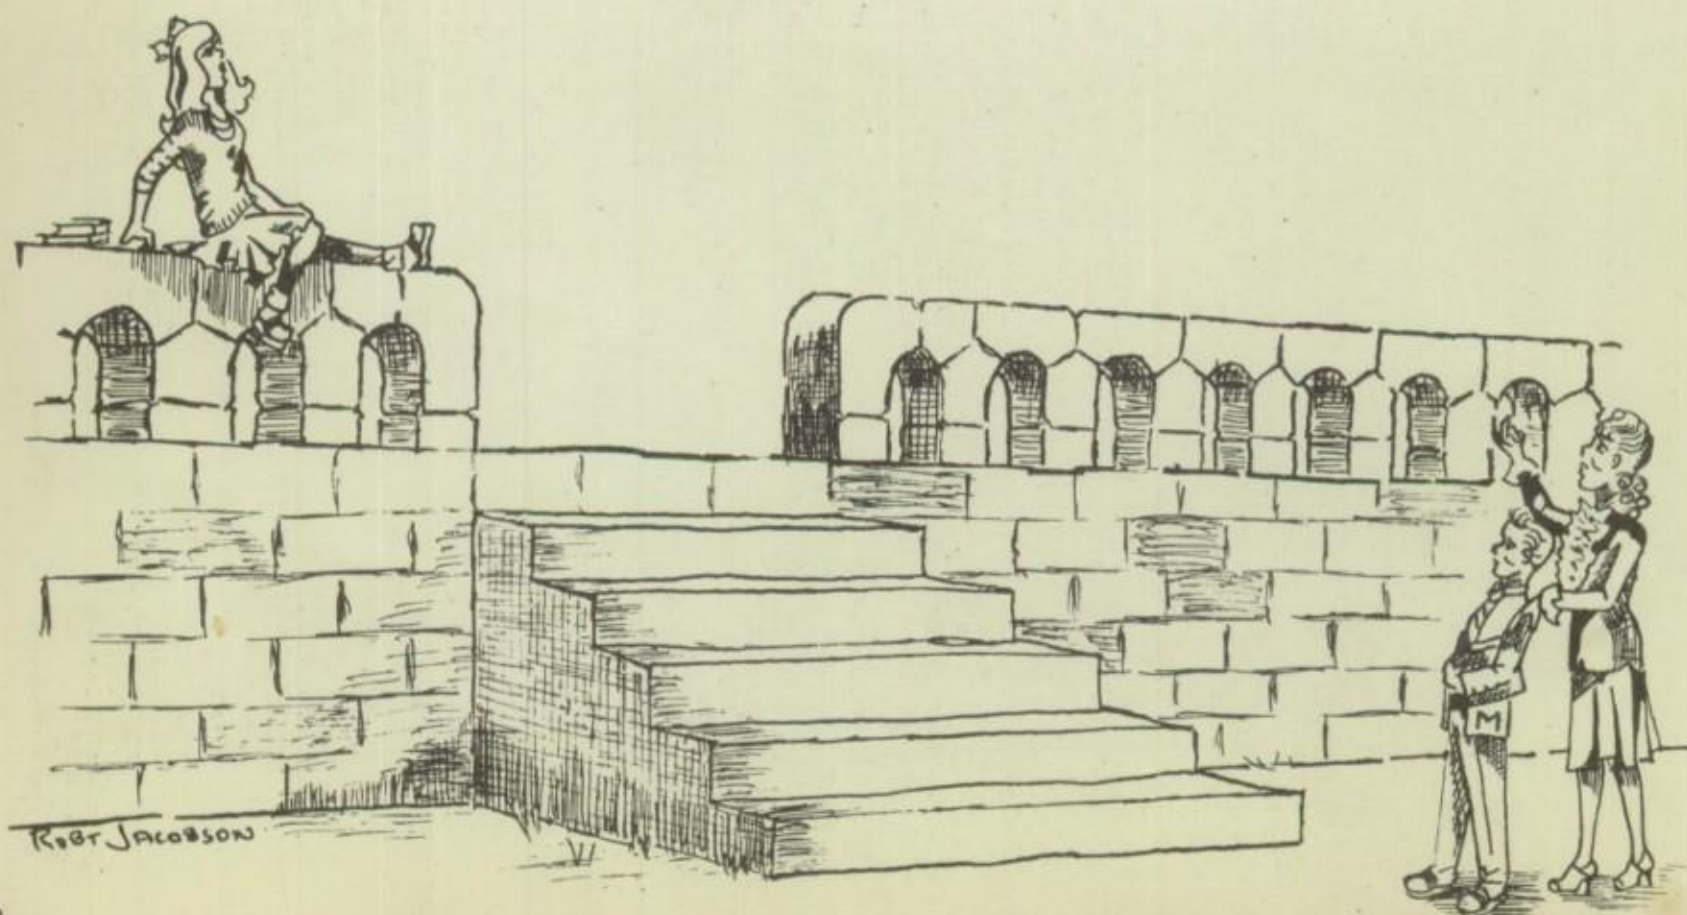

Till thou at length are free."

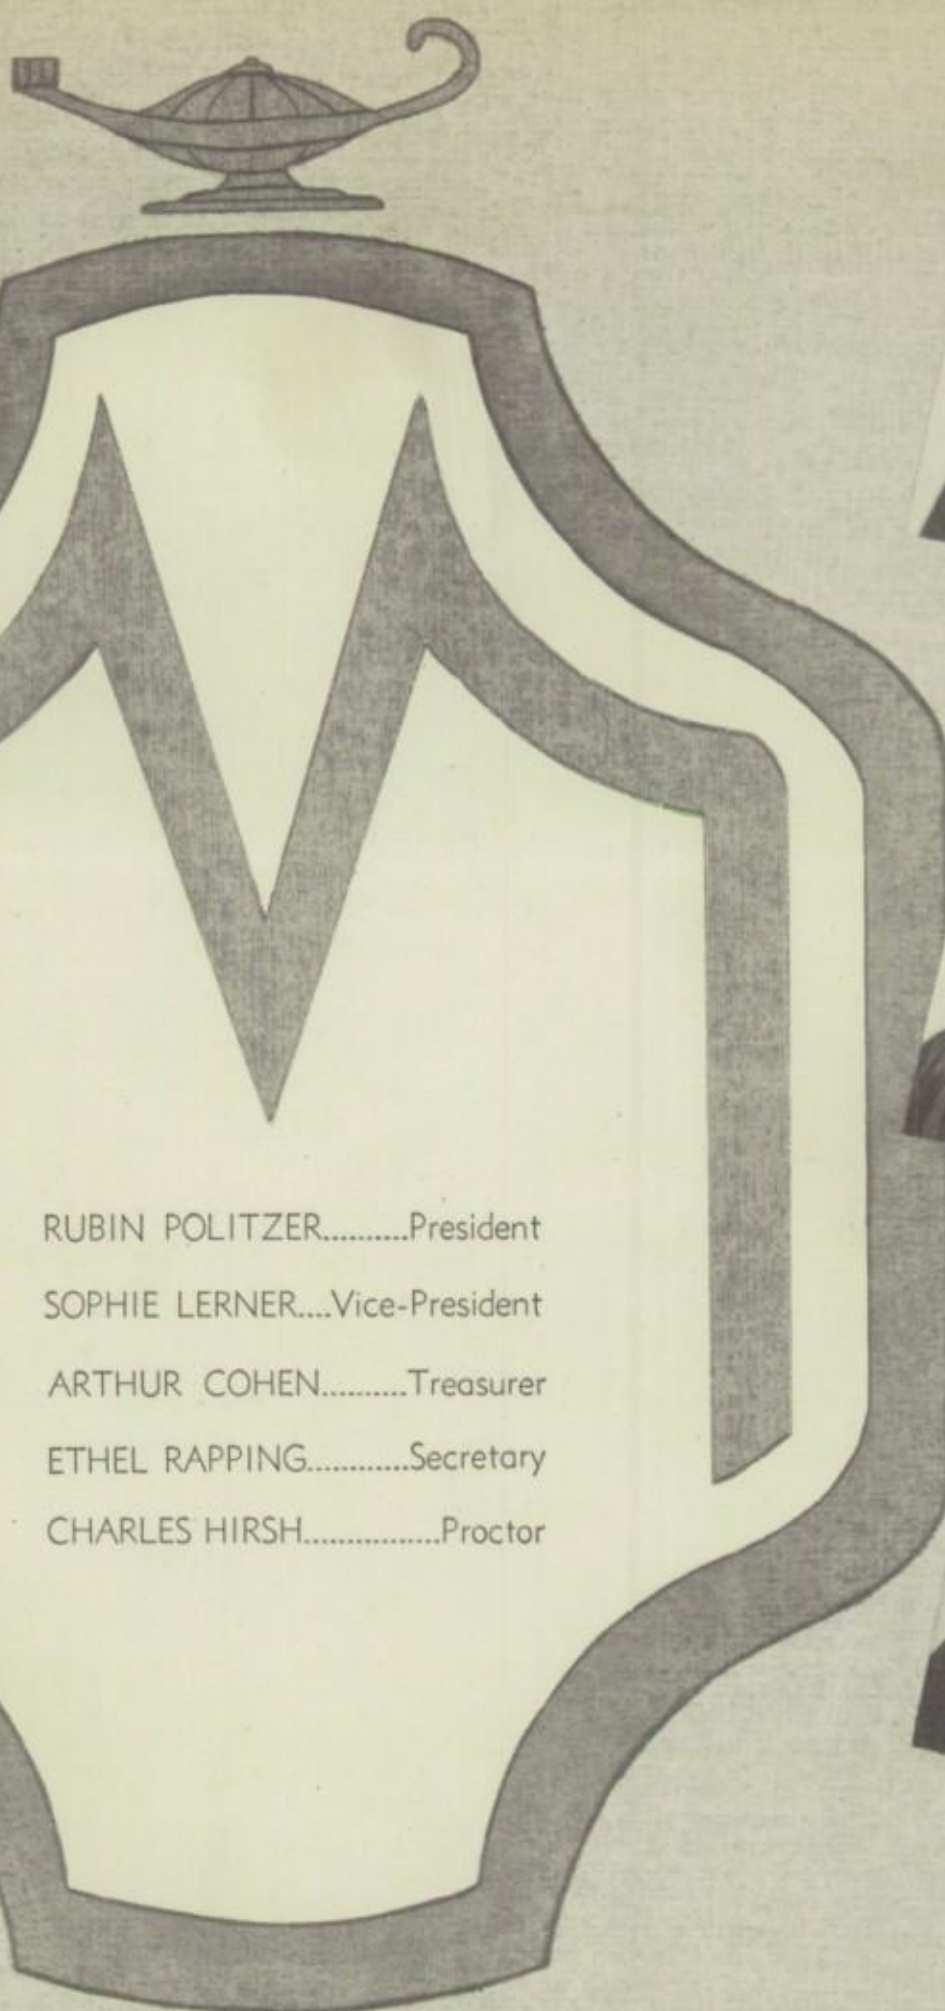

Just as the chambered nautilus, in its growth, leaves behind its "low-vaulted past", thus does the student, advancing to his goal, outgrow his former mental limitations.

Behind commencement lies the end of preparation; ahead of it lies the beginning of actual learning, whether in college or in the world's school, which will bring us closer to the ultimate emancipation of the soul.

SILBER

Uncurling from the January, '42 lamp of learning, one plume rose above all the other cloudy wisps of smoke. When the hazy vapor cleared, the name of Lillian Rymer was discerned, leading all the other aspirants to scholastic achievement.

In true Manley style, the January, 1942 valedictorian did not shine in the academic field alone. For in addition to maintaining the highest scholastic average in her class, Lillian was active in several of Manley's major extra-curricular organizations. On the roster of her activities are found membership in the National Honor Society, flutist in the Honor Band for three years, and the Vice Presidency of the P.A.L.S. Further proof of her versatility is the attainment of the coveted Civic "M" and Music awards.

JANUARY

Manley's senior girls' social club, the Peppy And Loyal Seniors, started their activities by helping the Senior Council make a grand success of the picnic in Mannheim Woods.

The first official meeting was held on October 13, when the girls, under the dual sponsorship of Miss Jorgensen and Miss Bradford, discussed picnics, topics for lectures, parties, and dances. Many of the enjoyable times realized during the semester were planned at this meeting.

An innovation begun this semester by the girls was the compiling and publishing of a booklet containing all the important events of the term. Included among the activities were lectures and beauty culture talks sponsored by the P.A.L.S. for the younger girls. Not to be forgotten is that all-important day, December 9, when the P.A.L.S. did their bit in making Senior Recognition Day a huge success.

The girls will long remember this organization, not only as the center of their Senior activities, but also for the many lasting friendships that were formed.

A season of unprecedented activity was forecast for the Triple "M" Club when, on October 6, the largest senior boys' organization in Manley held one of the most enthusiastic elections in M.M.M. history. Besides acquiring speakers and movies of varied interests for the senior class, the Triple "M", in cooperation with its sister organization, the P.A.L.S., sponsored a number of social events which, since being initiated by their social minded predecessors, have become red letter days on every graduating senior's social calendar.

Outstanding among these memorable occasions was Recognition Day, at which time the faculty and administrators handed over their duties to members of the P.A.L.S. and M.M.M. Climaxed by an unusually clever talent program and by a social in the gym, Recognition Day proved to be the highlight event of the senior social whirl.

The Triple "M" was fortunate in obtaining the services of amiable Mr. Katz as its sponsor.

Remembrances

'Tis the night for diplomas and all through my head
Dance four years of mem'ries of the life we had led.

The girls after gym no more were poets' delights,
For the speedball had changed them from visions to sights.

There were chemistry lab days and all through the rooms
Was the breath-taking odor of foul sulphur fumes.

Though our eyes would not open, and the street car was late
Pink tardy slips awaited us at five after eight.

The drama performed; tragedies they said;
But our buttons popped off from laughter instead.

When we went horseback riding, a rare time we had
But it made sitting down, oh! so painful and sad.

We have looked back at moments when "King Carefree" did reign
Now wouldn't you like them all over again?

SENIOR COUNCIL AND COMMITTEES

Every semester the Senior Executive Council starts the wheel of Senior activities going. The Senior Executive Council, the hub of the wheel, consists of the five Senior Class officers and two members of each graduating division. Radiating from the hub are ten spokes in the form of committees which assume the different duties connected with such activities as the Senior Luncheon, Class Night, and Commencement, to cite a few. The work they have done has added immeasurably to every Senior's full enjoyment of his last semester at Manley.

President's Message

A hand-drawn illustration of a scroll with text and an hourglass. The scroll is unrolled from the top left, with the text written on it. It then folds back down to the bottom left, where it is held by a stand. The stand is a simple wooden frame with a central vertical post and two side posts. In the center of the stand is an hourglass. The hourglass has a narrow neck and two bulbous ends. The top bulb is shaded with cross-hatching, and the bottom bulb is also shaded with cross-hatching. The scroll itself is decorated with a grid pattern along its edges. The text on the scroll is written in a cursive, handwritten style.

my dear classmates,
Like the artist who daubs at his canvas,
we are striving to produce our painting of life.
Our education has enabled us to shape the background. Now it is up to us to complete the picture. We are leaving the shelter of manly into a turbulent and agitated world.
Certain insidious forces are seeking to destroy the harmony of our composition with a discord of hatred and ill will. Despite these forces, we will let nothing darken the highlights of our creation. We have been equipped together with our own artistry, will help us paint a picture of our true selves.

And so, dear classmates, your painting will be as good as you make it. I leave you with the sincere hope that yours will be a masterpiece.

Sincerely,
Rubin Ditzer

The Present Will Fade Into the Past

"And departing leave behind us Footprints on the sands of time."—Longfellow

It seems but yesterday that we came,
Here we grew, we struggled, we strove,
We eagerly grasped at the threads before us,
A pattern of life, we planned, we wove.

As we wove we made mistakes,
Dreams were shattered to the ground,
We ripped our pattern, started again,
Time has been patient, our framework is sound.

Here we are on the threshold of life,
We've come to the parting of the ways,
You'll follow one path, I another,
But Time, as ever, with us stays.

The Past has left us memories fond,
The Present will fade into the Past,
The Future is ours, to work, achieve, and
To cherish our memories to the very last.

—Fanny Grochowsky

Valedictorian and Other Winners of Scholastic Laurels

BETTY GLICK

HERE is inscribed in the history of every class a student who is invariably scholastically and civically prominent, and who achieves the coveted honor of valedictorian. This semester, the scholastic laurels were won by Betty Glick, a figure well known to both faculty and students. Her many achievements outside of scholastic fields include flutist in the Honor Band and Orchestra, music editor of the Manleygram, and membership in the National Honor Society. In addition, she received this year's D.A.R. Award.

Betty Glick has exemplified the Manley spirit. We still remember her with pride.

AN OPEN LETTER TO RUBIN POLITZER

April 7, 1942

Dear Rubin,

The Dukie Bernstein Award is probably the most sought-after award in the school. Many students get Civic awards, Music awards, Athletic awards, and similar recognition, but only one student a year earns the Dukie Bernstein Award.

You really earned it, too. Few students can boast a record such as you established at Manley. Among your activities were those of President of the January class, concertmeister of the Honor Band, Vice-president of the Student Council, and Vice-president of the National Honor Society.

But there is much more to you than is shown by the above. Other, deeper strains are part of your makeup. Your cheerfulness, quiet competency, ready assumption of responsibility — in fact, all the many facets of your versatile nature are well known to us and generally admired. It seems to us that your achievements are the spirit of Manley personified.

We are sure that the Marvin Steinberg Foundation, the organization which annually bestows the Dukie Bernstein Award, heartily approves our selection of you.

Sincerely,

The Senior Faculty and Graduates

P. A. L. S.

Manley's Peppy and Loyal Seniors are PALS in the true sense of the word. The P.A.L.S. enjoyed many good times together, and on several occasions cooperated with the M.M.M., their joint social activities climaxing at Senior Recognition Day, when the 4A's demonstrated their executive ability by "taking over" the school. With the help of Miss Englestein and Mrs. Krakover, the co-faculty sponsors, the plans for an educational, vocational and social program were successfully realized.

M. M. M.

"The meeting of Manley's Manly Men will now come to order! Will the secretary please read the minutes?"

Gradually the low murmur of voices subsides and everyone gets down to business. Questions such as these are on the lips of all: "What shall be done on Recognition Day?" "Are we to have a social?" "How about a hike—a picnic—a dance?" "Let's play the faculty—basketball or volleyball?"

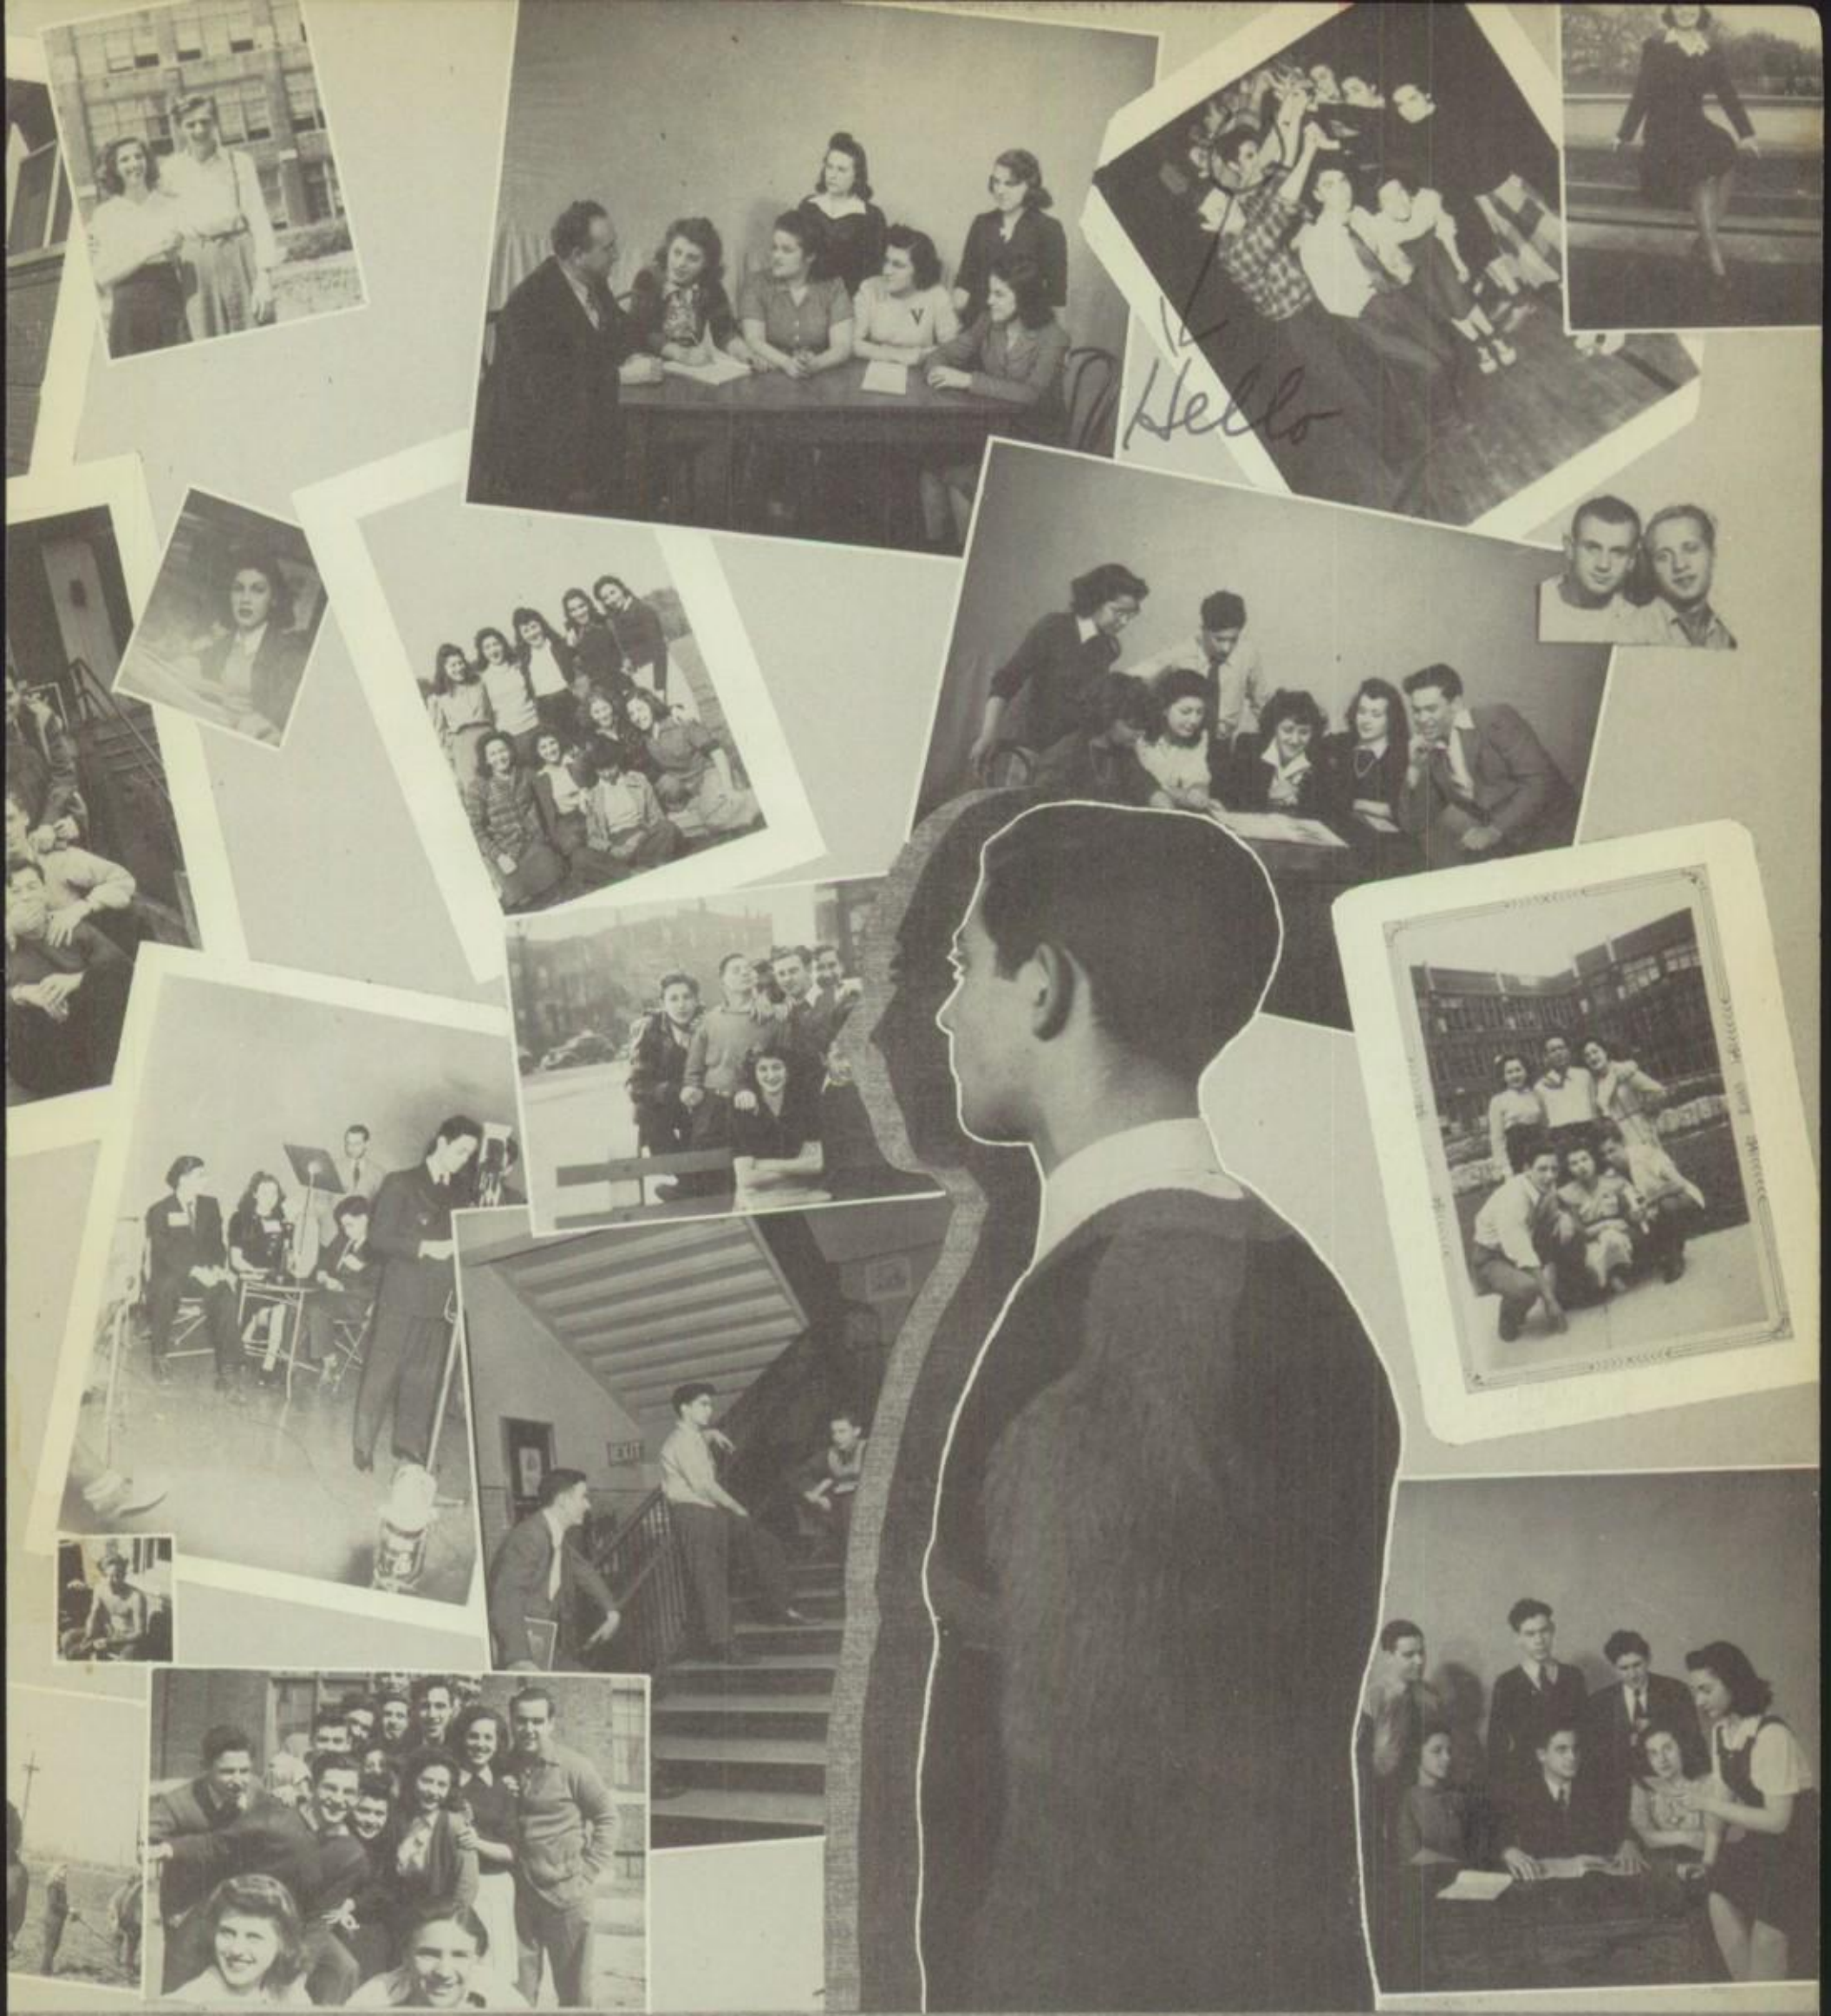

Finally the momentous questions are answered and a typical M.M.M. meeting is adjourned, the members satisfied with their accomplishments.

Senior Council and Committees

To Our Classmates of June, 1942:

We of the Senior Council take this opportunity to thank you for allowing us to serve you and to express the hope that our efforts have met with your approval. In formulating the general plans and policies of our class we have followed procedures which we deemed most popular with you. We hope our judgment has been true.

At the very beginning of the semester our officers voiced the wish that class positions and duties be distributed among the greatest number of seniors. In all our proceedings we have been guided by this democratic SPIRIT OF MANLEY and of our class. The result has been general efficiency and satisfaction although requirements imposed on senior committees have been rigid. We add our voices to the general spirit of commendation for the splendid work done by these committees.

Also we give special thanks to Mr. Harvey B. Gunn, senior advisor, for his very valuable help and guidance which has enabled us to overcome the problems peculiar to our class.

And now our job is done, but once more we express our appreciation of the honor bestowed on us as your guiding body.

—The Members of the Senior Council

Dear Classmates,

In a short time we part, each to seek his destiny. We shall scatter; some of our paths may never cross again as our individual quests lead us through the intricate byways of life. But wherever we drift we shall always have in common the pleasant memories of these last four years together.

They have been incredibly short years. Senior semesters seem to have followed close upon the heels of freshman semesters, but in between we have accomplished much. Against the background of lightness and fun so characteristic of high school students we have advanced from timidity to self-confidence; made many friends; furthered our educations; prepared in part for the future; and grasped those ideals of citizenship, democracy, character, and responsibility which are the core of the spirit of Manley and for which this institution stands. All these experiences have served their purpose in broadening our outlook and acquainting us with the problems which we will eventually have to face.

And now, the clarion Ambition calls us. Already our minds have pierced the future's haze and the guns' smoke to glimpse that for which we all strive mightily, our ultimate goals.

With this glimpse comes the realization that at last we are dependent upon our own judgment. Heretofore, we have been guided by the kindly concern of our faculty and parents; henceforth, we walk alone.

In a short time we part, each to seek his destiny. I hope and pray that that which we finally achieve will bring satisfaction and happiness.

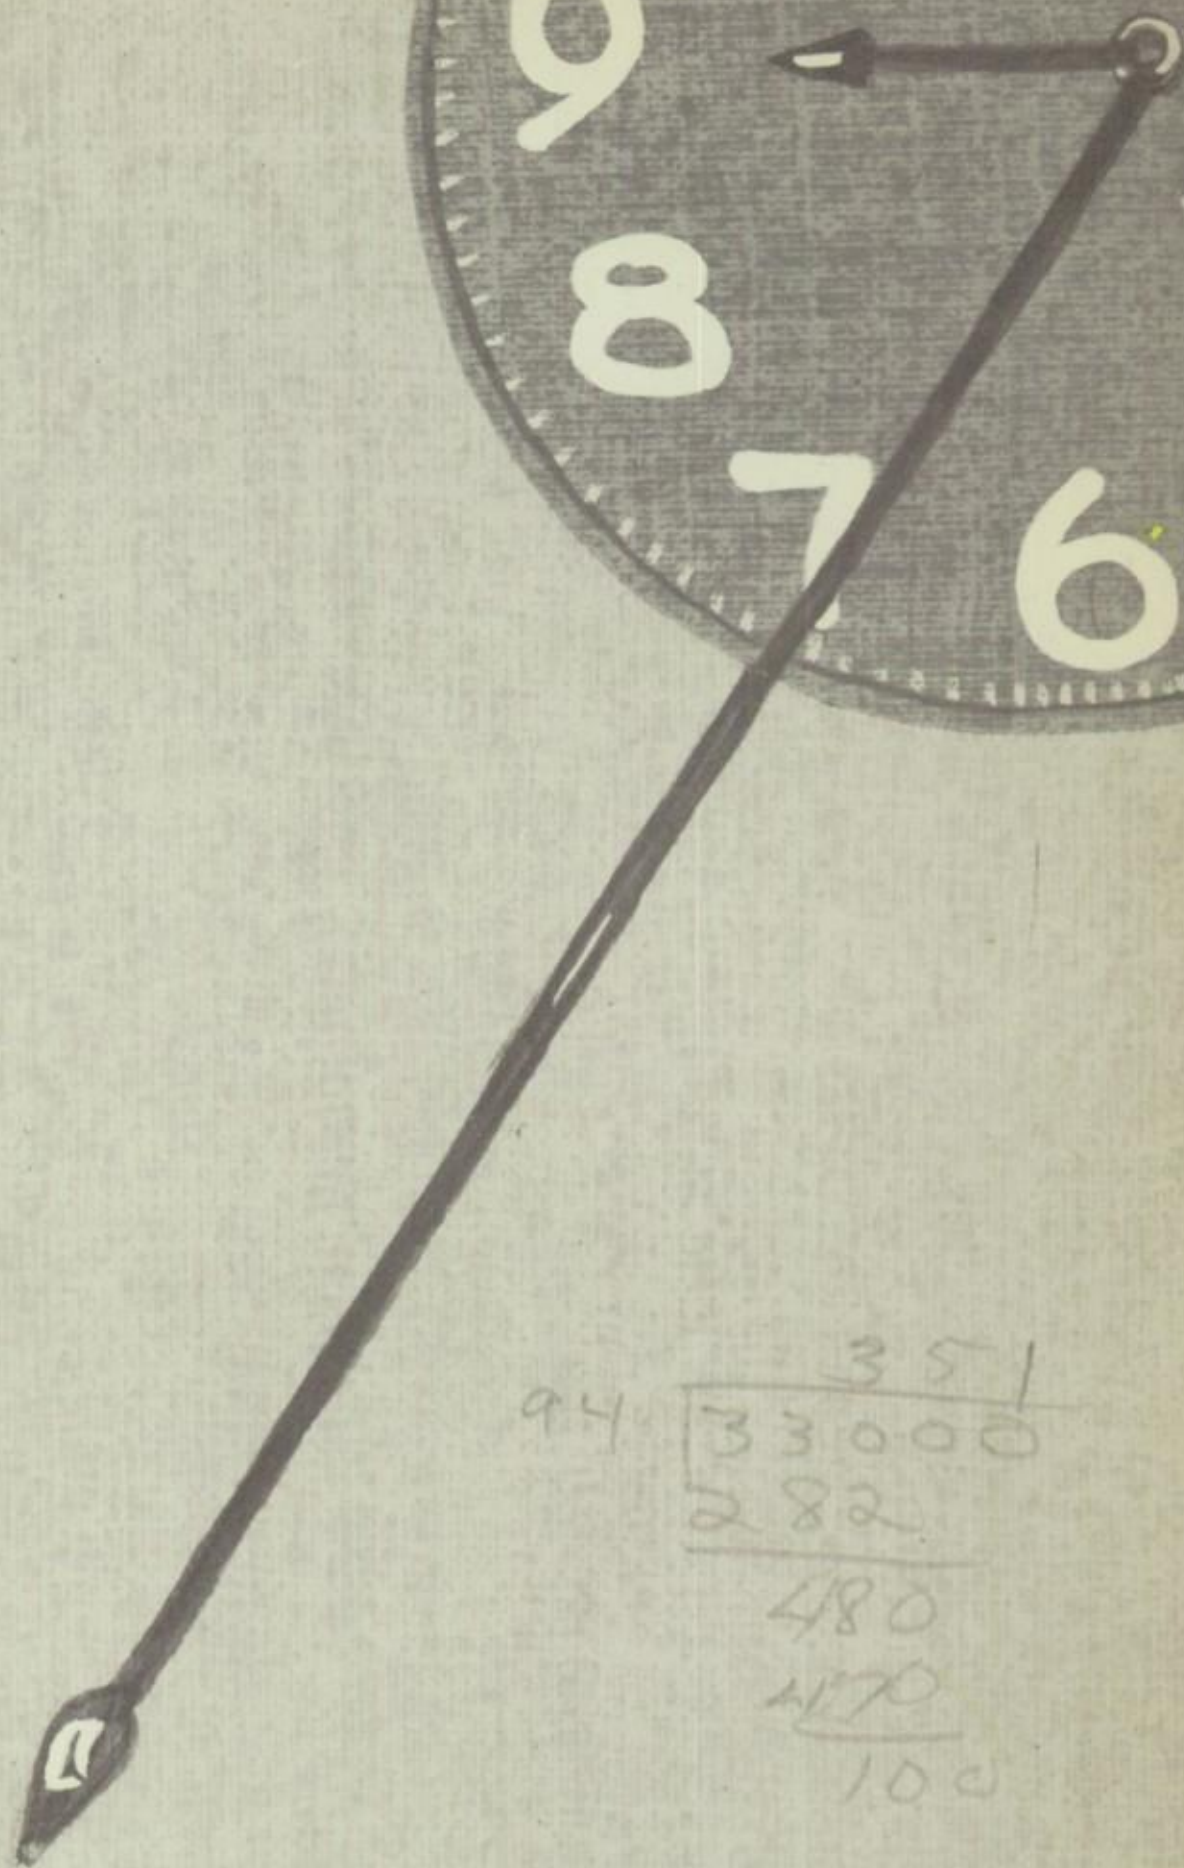

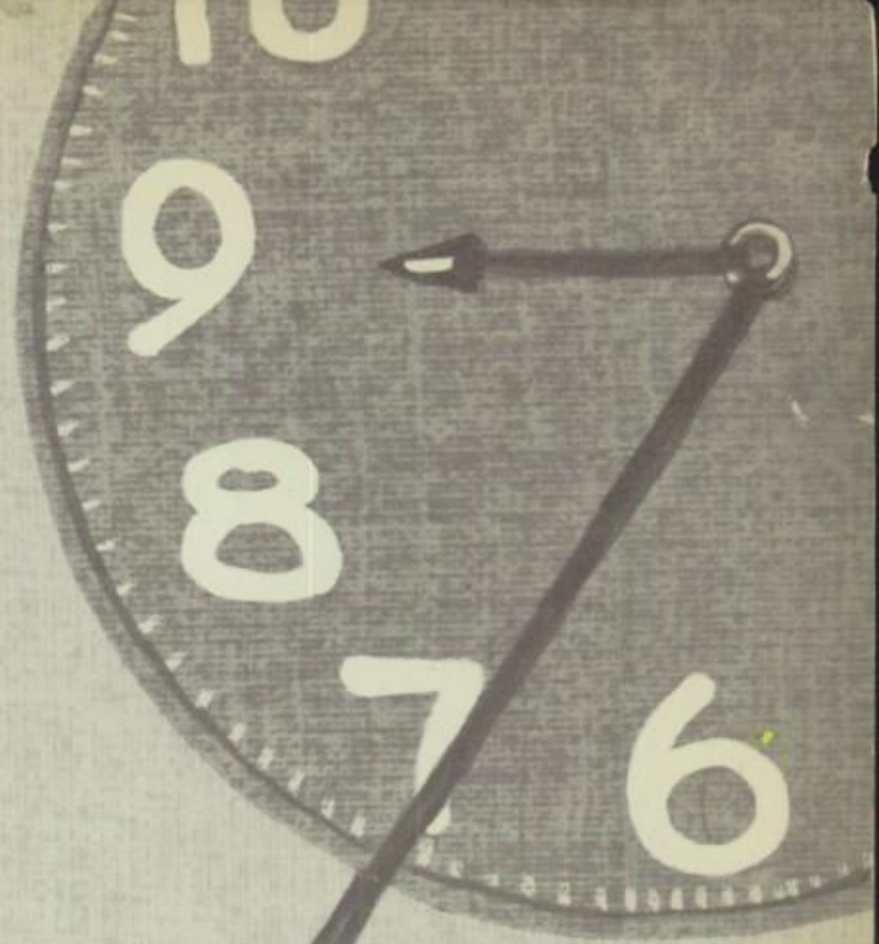

Good luck,

Seymour Millstone

manlegram

Manley views with pride its bi-monthly publication, the Manlegram. It represents the creative labors of a small group of students to whom earnest endeavor means more than perfection of results, for all that is required of a Manlegram journalist is a pencil and pad, an active curiosity, and the will to work.

There are no cliques in the Manlegram staff. The position of editor-in-chief is open to anyone who has worked hard enough to deserve it. And it is a most pleasant one, due to the sense of humor and understanding of our sponsor, Mr. Brady. Through his encouragement and the efforts of the Manlegram's staff, our newspaper has become the fine vehicle of student talent that it is. It has two Quill and Scroll Awards to its credit.

We of the Manlegram staff, who must leave Mr. Brady's domain, shall not soon forget the little third-floor room buzzing with activity, where so many happy hours have been spent in shaping news items, pasting dummies, writing heads, and beating the ever approaching deadline. The time spent there has taught us the qualities of industry, self-determination, and cooperation that will help us in later life.

ALL WORK AND NO PLAY

YEAR BOOK STAFF AT WORK

Many Manley students enjoy work but not many can boast of spending from two to four periods a day in one class. Perhaps you are wondering what the class is that breeds such industry. Well, it is Creative Writing, and if you were one of the chosen few taking this class you'd be too engrossed in your work to worry about the time. It is in this class that the Manley Memories, annual publication of Manley's graduating classes, is produced step by step from a few fragmentary thoughts to a classic one hundred and forty-four page edition composed of unusual layouts and original compositions.

The Manley Memories would not be the yearbook it is, if it weren't for the whole-hearted, earnest efforts of all the members of the staff. It is the students who originate the layouts, the copy, the art work, and the theme. The teacher serves only to criticize and advise from her vantage point of greater experience and knowledge; Mrs. Mittendorf conducts the class in Creative Writing; Mr. Middendorf assists in art and layout.

There are no distinctions in this class. It is divided into four departments: art, literary, activities, and finance, equal in rank. The members of each department are chosen on the basis of their individual inclinations and talents. In addition, there is a managing director who is coordinator of all departments. Leon Gottfried held this position for the January class while Rose Nash carried on the ensuing semester.

Other members of the staff included: Daniel Kwasman, Norman Silber, Jack Lubovitz, Albert Zvolner, and Robert Jacobson, who comprised the art and layout department; Benjamin Sokolin, Philip Yonesovitz, Seymour Millstone, and Fannie Grochowsky, who were responsible for the bulk of the literary work; Betty Diamond, Sophie Lerner, Seymour Soglin, Isaiah Rothblatt, Betty Gordon, Aaron Ganz, Lorraine Isenberg, Estelle Adler, Jean Krit, Paul Nathan, Martin Nadis, Arthur Malin, Idabelle Rappaport, and Lorraine Bernstein, who were in the hub-bub of the activities department; and Rubin Politzer and David Appelbaum were in charge of all financial matters.

HONORABLE MENTION

Students receiving honorable mention for contributing invaluable technical aid in the art of layout, printing, and photography, though not regular members of the staff, include: Dominic Gramarossa, 3A-4; William Surman, 3A-2; Harry Lakovitz, 4A-4; Seymour Becker, 4A-2; Irving Lichtenstein, 4B-2; Eddie Stone, 4B-2; Josephine De Nicola, 3A-1; and George Matoush, 4A-1.

In the Spirit of Manley

THE GREAT MISTAKE

AARON GANZ

Once there was a little boy
Who went to Manley High,
He got so tired of school one day
That he just passed it by.

Now, this little Manley lad
He wondered what to do,
So he went out to Wrigley Field
And watched the Cubs drop two.

When he came to school next day
The princ'pal he did see,
For half an hour the two did talk,
They ended, finally.

When the lad came out, I asked
If he was on the rocks,
"Oh, no", the lad replied, "He said,
'Next time, you watch the Sox'."

CLUES

CHRISTINE KRAMER

Dirty little finger marks
Imprinted on the door,
Funny charcoal stickmen
Upon the bathroom floor.

Fuzzy Wuzzy teddy bears
That sit in every nook;
Berry jam and bread crumbs
In Mother Goose's book.

Watson needs no spyglass
To look about for clues,
For here's a pair of rompers
And there's a pair of shoes.

Our lonely house is bright now
With happiness and joy;
And any Sherlock Holmes would know
We've got a little boy.

GOING HOME

ROSE NASH

I walked down State Street one late afternoon and saw people rushing. Last minute shoppers, arms full of parcels, hurried down the street, trying to keep their belongings together. Taxi drivers honked angrily at the crowd blocking their right turns, while whistles and brakes screeched out blasts of discord. People thronged out of buildings into the sea of movement.

Why were they rushing?

I boarded an "L". People pushing and shoving, charged with bull-like ferocity to claim a vacant seat. I saw tired, weary faces, and awry hats. Heads buried in the latest edition peered intently at the news of the latest bloody battle, oblivious to the people around them. Headlines loomed up, huge and menacing, as sullen faces stared impatiently at the clock, eager to hurry out of the crowded train. The nervous chug-chug of wheels grated upon rusty rails. At each station people scurried in and out.

Why were they rushing?

I got off the train, and turned down the street toward home. I saw squares of green grass, and scrawny branches of trees reluctant to part with their last traces of foliage. Children played happily in the quiet street. I saw the pale blue sky tinged with the rosy glow of the autumn sun. I came to the familiar steps of my home. And suddenly I knew why the people were rushing.

HER DUTY

ALLAN NIELSEN

What are mothers made for
But to work and strive all day;
To wash the dishes, clean the floor,
And put your toys away?

To help you with your lessons,
To teach to you your prayers,
To listen to your day's adventures
About your boyish joys and cares.

But when the years have passed
And your childhood days are through,
Will you do for her the things
That she has done for you?

And when the great and honest Judge
Summons her to the stand,
Will you be humble enough to tell
That she made you a man.

LIFE'S HOURS

ANN OSTER

First far, and faint, the pale pink hue
Draws nearer, stronger — a day starts anew.
After a while noon . . . the climax of the day.
Strange . . . that, also passes away.
Then slowly, quietly, the sun sinks in the west,
And we know another day has gone to rest.

It is surprising, but life too is that way.
First far and faint, drawing closer every day.
Finally bursts life's noon; with its important hours.
The hot sun high, shines on the flowers.
Life shows us hopes and joys, sorrow and fright.
And after that . . . it is right.

YOU

SEYMOUR MILLSTONE

Your lovely hair, your lovely eyes
Are with me all the day;
For you are you, and you will be
In my dreams always.

Your dimpled cheeks, your sunny smile,
Your temper never odd;
For you are you, and none will be
So dear to me, 'cept God!

Your Roman nose, your tiny ears,
And yet so loyal, true.
You're very pretty, kind, and wise. Say,
By the way, who are you?

MEN OF HONOR

SAMUEL KAMIN

O! thou men of freedom's light!
Show thy honor in thy might,
Lift up thy great banner high
And raise a pray'r to the sky!
Let thy liberty be known
And thou shall not fight alone!

O! thou men of honor bright!
Show thy skill 'neath heav'n's light!
Draw thy sword; thy shining blade,
And show what men thy God hath made!
And when the purple night shall fall,
Thy deeds above all else shall call!

MAXWELL STREET

SOPHIE LERNER

It's grotesque, it's gaudy, it's exaggerated, it's crazy, it's Maxwell Street. Where but on Maxwell Street could you find this throbbing, picturesque, ceaseless animation?
Carts in the streets; wares in the carts; men shrieking, wheeling, cajoling, exhorting to sell their wares. Where but on Maxwell Street do you find Italian spaghetti, Turkish tobacco, Ethiopian lunch rooms, Gypsy fortune-tellers,
Jewish "jargon" basements, Mexican tamales, Kelly's cops,
Our Lady of Sorrows' missionaries?

Here there are no silly formalities keeping people apart from each other; no — "May I help you Madams?" But — "Step right up ladies and gentlemen. Now watch closely while I demonstrate how to use this Nifty Glass Cutter."
Perpetual motion is the theme.

"Missus far only ah dollar. I giff it to you cheap. You got ah dollar?"

"I got twenty-five cents."

"Sold!"

No lowly barber shop clutters up Maxwell Street. Instead, here is the Hollywood Tonsorial Parlour completely decorated with lounging darkies. Here is bargaining and gaining. Here is bargaining and losing. Here is stealing and salvation. Here is purity and prostitution. Here is a kindly hand and an unkindly foot. Here are sages and simpletons. Here are swearing, sweating sons of guns and suave, silent sons of guns. Here are honest plain people and plain honest people.

Maxwell Street is a world alone. It boasts every race, every color, every creed; every sound, every sight, every smell; every mixture, every manner, every motive. Maxwell Street is a world apart

PERPLEXITY

SEYMOUR MILLSTONE

I don't know what to write about,
My brain has ceased to function.
O, please! just give me one idea
No! Not Tuxedo Junction!

I just sit and think here,
My mind a perfect blank.
A waterfowl? No that's been written.
A horse's shiny flank?

No, e'erything I think of
Is pretty much a blight.
Lord! Will you please help me?
I can't think of what to write.

Palette Club

A palette, a brush, and a host of ideas — with these tools the Palette Club began a semester of creative work. The object of the club is to further the interests of those who plan to continue their education in art. Its interests are social as well as cultural, for several exclusive gatherings are held through the year. In addition to this many field trips are made to the Art Institute, museums, and other places of interest.

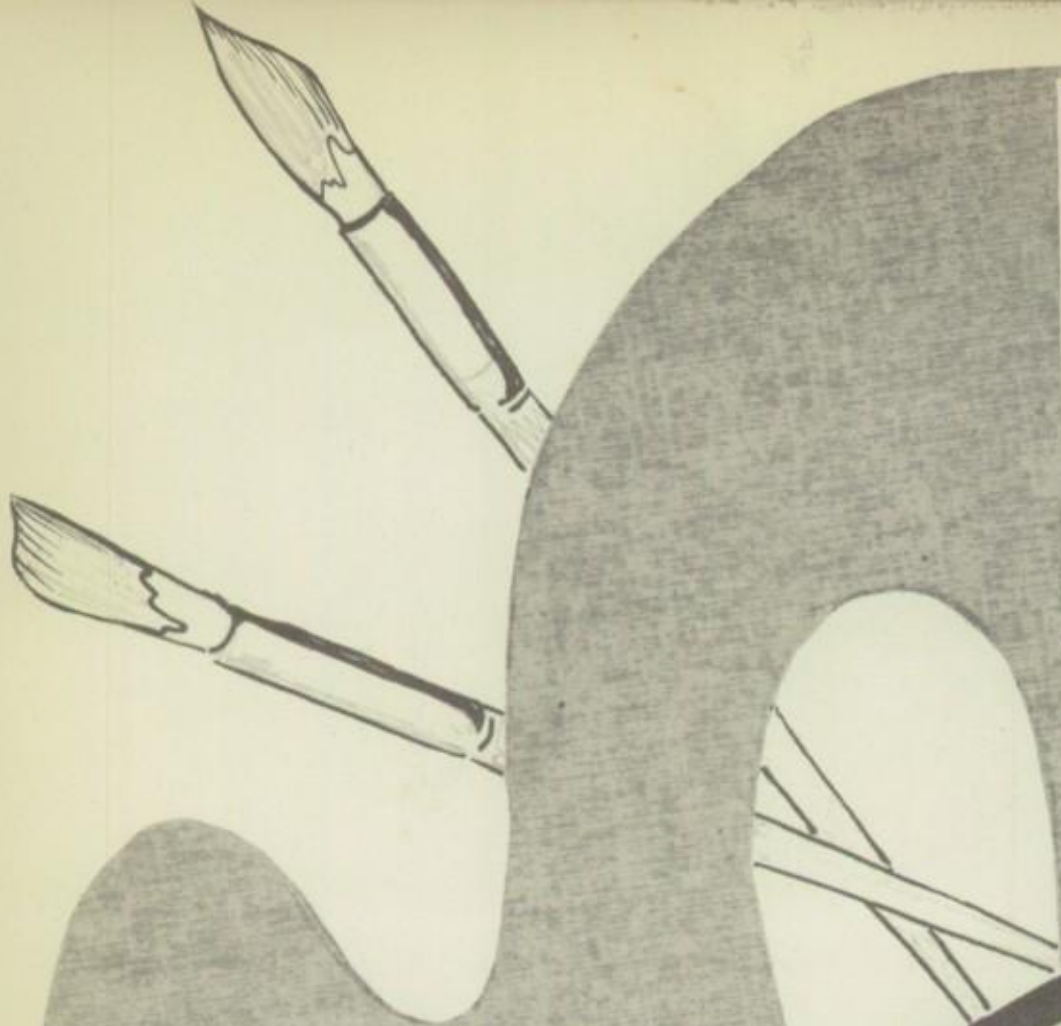

The January officers were Molly Schulman, president; Lillian Aronovitz, secretary; and Dolores Manseau, treasurer.

The June officers were Floyd Sepe, president; Frieda Rabinovitz, vice-president; Ruth Simons, secretary; and Gladys Jones, treasurer.

Manley Players

Ah! the glamour of the stage. Have you ever been enthralled by it? There are quite a number of us who cannot deny that at one time or another we aspired to see our names on a marquee and to be able to step before the footlights, to give a brilliant performance. Usually it happens to be just another idle dream. But not so to those ambitious and enthusiastic future Lunts and Fontaines of Manley High School. They join Miss Smith's drama class where opportunity awaits them for development of their potential talents. The magic art of acting and the secrets of the theatre are taught to the Manley thespians, and really, it is quite remarkable what fine ability is thus revealed.

The performances of the drama class are always eagerly awaited by the Manley public and most assuredly well received. This is, of course, attributed to the guiding hand of Miss Smith, its capable director; to the fine selection of plays; and certainly to the splendid skill of the members.

The February drama class presented an excellent drama called "Locked Windows" by Carol McMillan Reid. The other tournament play was "Boy Meets Family", a comedy by Allan Reiser. Besides these regular performances, Manley High School was given two special treats — one a Christmas present, Dickens' well known "Christmas Carol"; the other, the rare and beautiful production of "The Magic Flute". The latter was produced through the collaborated efforts of both the music and drama departments.

The June group gave two comedies, "The Patched Coat" by Pauline Phelps and "Highest Bidder Gets a Date" by Eileen M. Smith. Both plays presented scenes of college life. In "The Patched Coat", Adele Sherman played the charming old grandmother; Clara Salario, the mulatto maid; Shirley Jacobs and Elayne Resnick, both as coeds; Marvin Singer, a teen-aged boy; Doris Richman, a high school senior; and Louis Sutnovsky, Joe Cohen, and Sheldon Fisher, college men. West Point cadets afforded the main attraction in "Highest Bidder Gets a Date". In fact, they descended upon a college town en masse — and how the hearts began to flutter!

The Manley drama class has reached a high standard and has afforded Manleyites many moments of pleasurable entertainment. We are justly proud of it and shall always retain it in our memories.

BAND

Good luck kid. May
You always remember
the Lawndale. Hy Chalmer
Honor Band

During the past seven years the Honor Band has crescendoed from a small ensemble to the present organization of some sixty-five talented musicians. In the city band contests, Manley has twice earned the distinction of being among the few bands to receive "S" ratings. The Honor Band is responsible for much of the glory and prestige which is identified with Manley.

Our orchestra has also played a significant part in the building up of Manley. Aside from filling the important music spot in the graduation exercises, and representing Manley at various grammar schools, churches, and a theological seminary, the orchestra has

ORCHESTRA

and Orchestra

received many honors in the city-wide contest held each year.

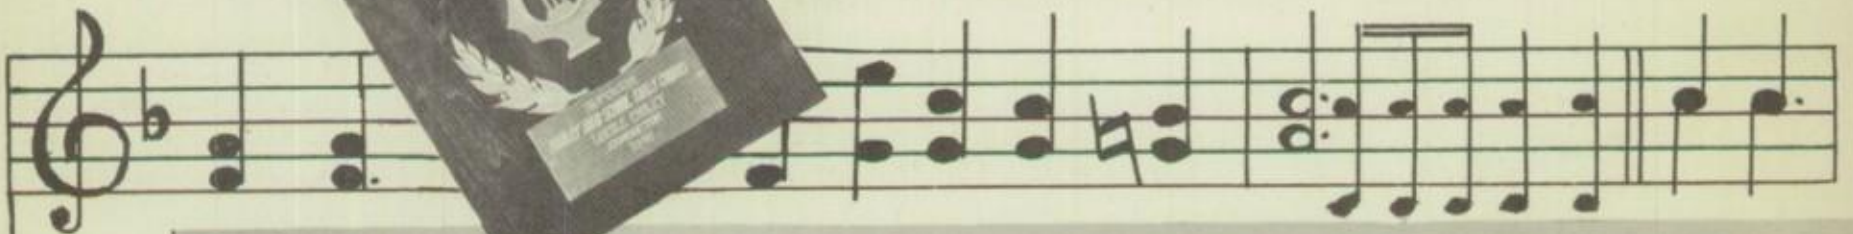

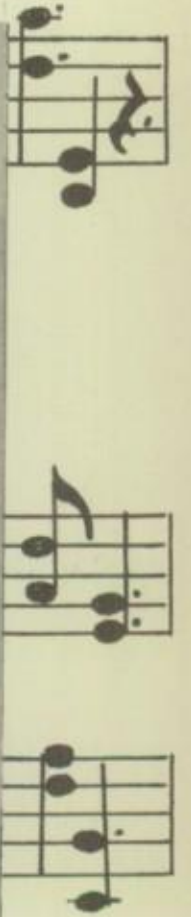

Although teamwork and comradeship is the keynote of both band and orchestra, the organizations have produced many brilliant soloists and ensembles. Manley has always been proud of its entrants in the yearly solo and ensemble contests.

The grand successes experienced by the band and orchestra are due almost entirely to the industry and ability of Mr. Reinhold M. Stark, the director. His excellent tutoring in music and his other helpful advice will guide Manley students successfully through the venturesome symphony of life.

The choral groups are a source of constant joy and pleasure to Manley's music lovers. These three groups of young people are always ready to supply a song, whether the occasion be a faculty luncheon, Christmas carolling, or the all-important semester concert.

One of the oldest, largest, and most successful of groups at Manley is the Girls' Chorus. Proof of its popularity is the fact that more Honor Letter Awards were given to chorus girls than to any other group. Proof of its artistry is the "S" rating they received in the city-wide choral contest held in January, under Miss Conley's direction. Thanks are due her for the encouragement and understanding she has given to so many girls. Miss Stroeter is making an able substitute for Miss Conley, now away on sabbatical leave.

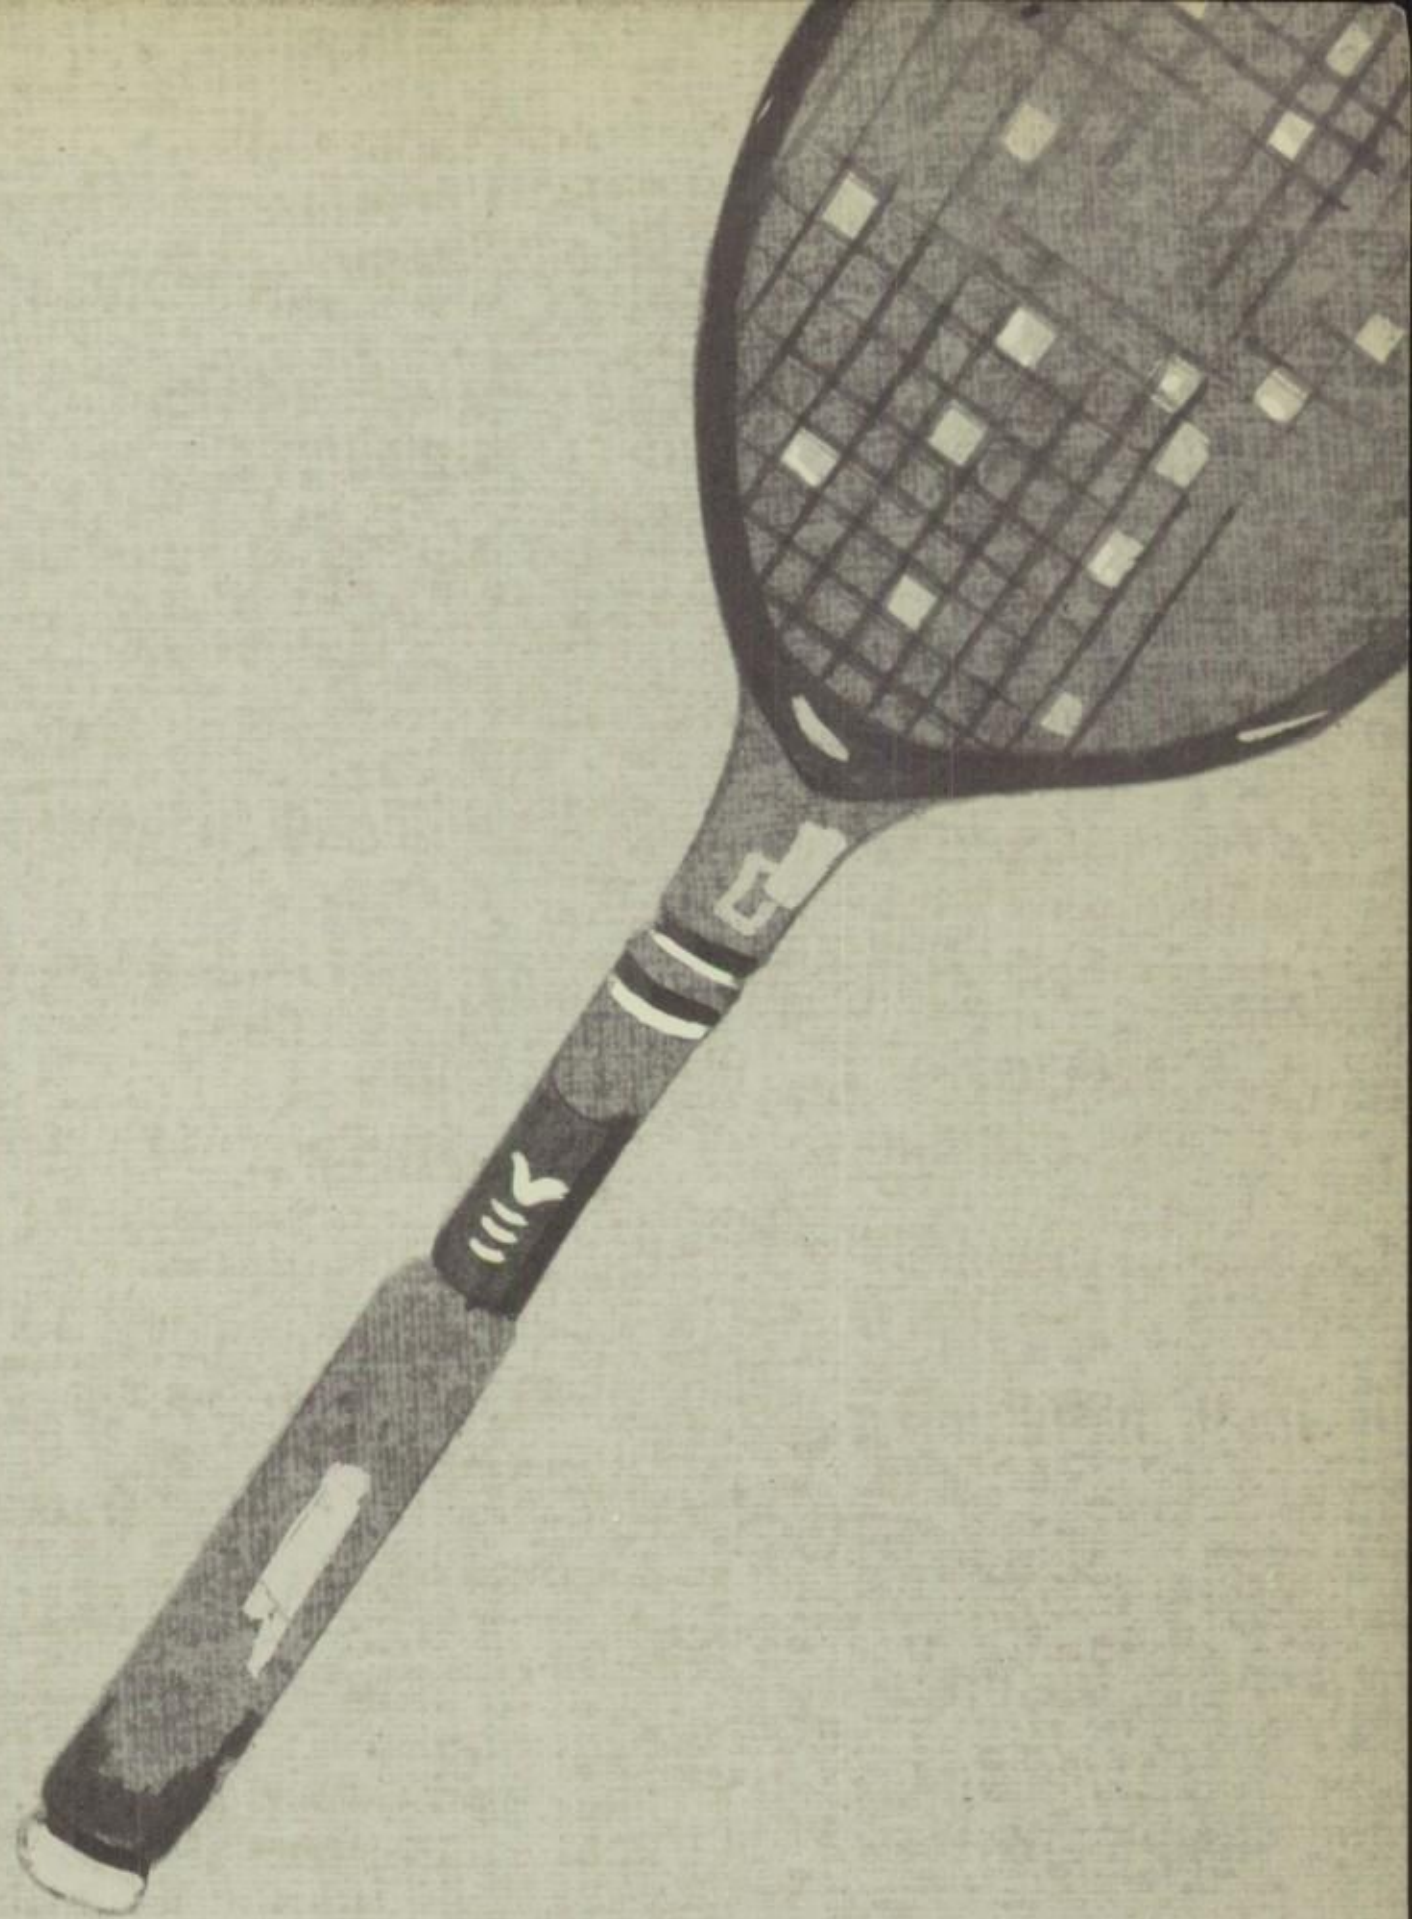

The Mixed Chorus this year produced Manley's first real operetta, "with all the trimmings". "Trial by Jury" was given on Class Night under Mr. Schwuchow's direction. Sherman Black sang the part of the impatient judge; Paul Broner the fickle lover, Edwin; and Louise Marinello portrayed the jilted bride. Daniel Kwasman sang the role of usher, and Maurice Alt attorney for the defense. The success of this production will doubtless set a precedent for the future.

Music at Manley is by no means reserved to a select class of music-minded students, and this is proven by the Boys' Chorus. In this group, sponsored by the genial Mr. Staater, athletes and bookworms alike join in the fun of "giving out" with song. The music they produce may not be the epitome of musical perfection, but no one who has heard it can deny that it is invigorating. This year Mr. Staater sent five boys to compete in the city-wide vocal solo contest. They were David Applebaum, Jerry Hollander, Irving Green, Carl Berger, and Sheldon Berman. All received commendable ratings. The music groups represent the lighter strain in the spirit of Manley — and their activities have helped to make a most successful year in Manley's book of memories.

A graduation wracked Senior team surprised newspaper experts by advancing to the quarter-finals in the playoff contests. Although they lost the first six men of last year's championship squad the heavies made a good showing in the regular league tilts. Losses to Stagg Tourney champions of Du Sable, playoff finalists of Kelly, and city champions of Lindblom, marred an otherwise perfect record. One of the interesting sidelights of the season was Manley popping up as the highest-scoring heavy team in the city.

In the first round of the playoffs Manley, the fourth place team of the Central Section, played Fenger, the South Side champions. The Blum men swarmed all over their highly touted opponents to advance to the quarter-finals. Playing a steady and fighting ball game the heavies soon rid the Fenger audience of their championship hopes. Making a slow start Manley held only a modest two point advantage at the end of the first quarter. A sudden spurt of fast play started the Manley advantage rolling onward and upward until the timekeeper's gun stopped the scoring "krieg" at 53-26.

In the quarter-finals the Manley five met much stronger opposition in the form of a fighting Lindblom aggregation. After holding the lead for nearly three quarters of the game Manley lost to the eventual champions, 33-18.

SAM TAKES ONE
OFF THE BACKBOARD

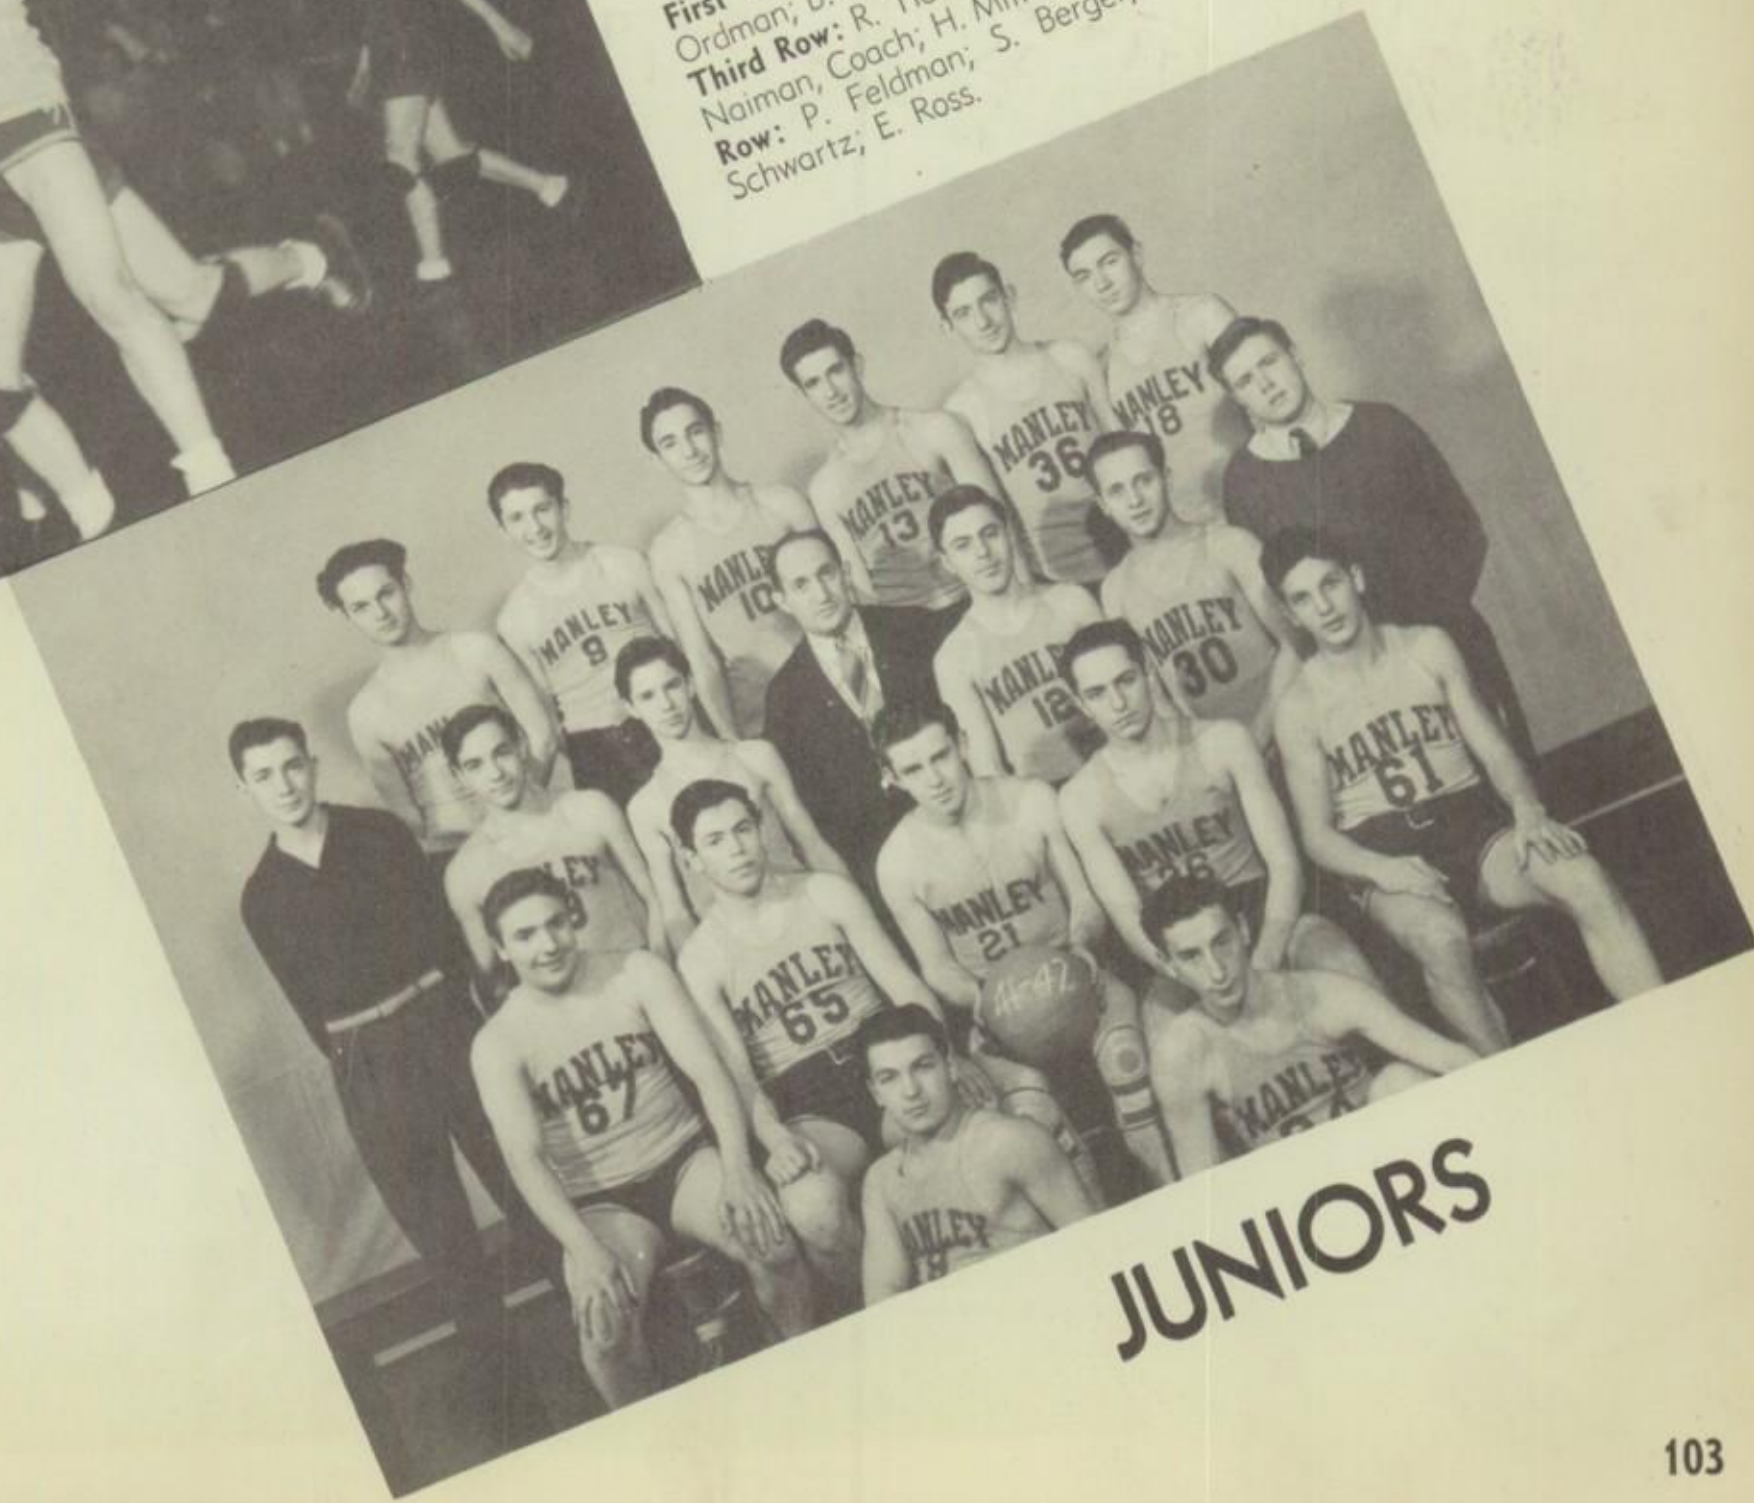

With a league record of six wins against two losses Manley's Junior five held a firm grip on the second place game of the season the lights bowled over all opposition except Tilden, the section champs. Although the Manley cagers lost four starting men from last year's semi-finalist quintet they were still able to put a fast and deceptive team out on the hardwood.

After giving their Fenger foes a lesson in basketball technique in the first round of the playoffs the juniors went down in defeat at the hands of an unbeaten Parker squad.

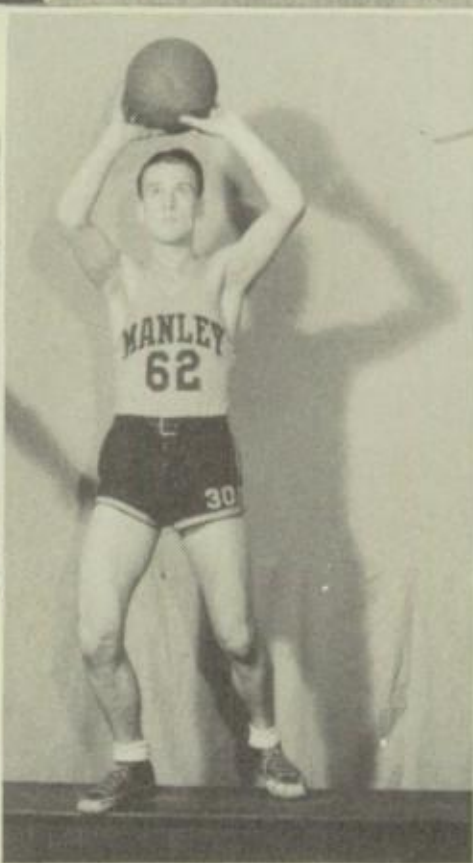

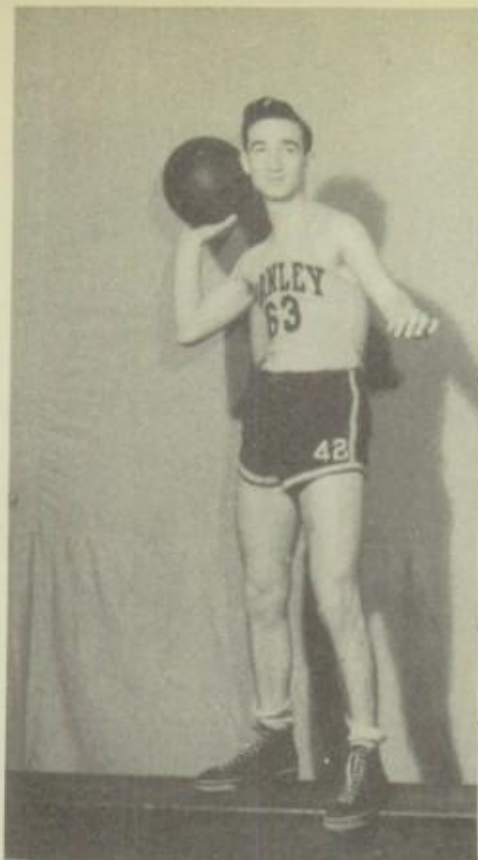

The Fenger contest had all the earmarks of a decisive loss to Manley until close to the halfway mark. Losing 14-7 at the end of the first quarter the lights caught up to and finally passed their South Side opponents at the end of the second period. With this 23-22 lead as their incentive Manley kept on plunging ahead until a 50-39 victory had been achieved. The next playoff game pitted Manley against Parker, the South Section champs. In a fast, close battle Manley came out on the short end of a 28-24.

Cheer Leaders

Championship conscious Manley has always turned to the Cheer Leader squad as its guide for loud and peppy outbursts of school spirit. The fellows are under the direction of Miss Alice K. Cassidy whose helpful encouragement has gone far to make this group an essential part of Manley.

Consisting of Captain Sameus Marcus, Ben Shorr, Howard Polakow, Frank Catrambone, and Arthur Malin, the squad has plenty of work to do besides bringing Manley to its feet at a crucial point in a game. Their other activities include complete charge of ticket sales, managing pep assemblies and the training of new applicants for the cheer leader job.

With the motto "Every boy a swimmer" to spur them onward the Manley Life Guard squad has advanced from a small inefficient group to a top-notch and valuable organization. Leadership and swimming ability are the two most important requirements needed by an applicant for the squad. Mr. Klem has been the faculty sponsor and guide of the mermen for the past three years.

Julien Bernstein is the captain of the squad for the spring semester. His predecessor was Philip Mankoff. They are assisted by the period captains. The prime objective of these boys is to have every student swim at least one length of the pool before his graduation.

Tennis

With the '41 tennis team coming back intact the players made a good showing in the '42 High School Tennis League. The veteran racket wielders Sameus Marcus, Marvin Garfield, Ben Shorr, Milton Steinberg, Ray Tiersky and Sidney Kronenberg, led by Coach Naiman, were out to beat last year's record of capturing third place in the South Section tourney. Impressive among the '41 match wins was Manley's masterful triumph over the section champions. Through their efforts the racqueteers are endeavoring to make Manley tennis minded.

M

Cross Country

"WATCH US NEXT YEAR," is the watchword of the Manley Cross Country team and the coach, Mr. Blum, as they view with few misgivings the coming graduation which will take but one of this year's squad. Lanky Morton Chester is the sole departer and the remaining members include Anthony Simone, Harold Baum, Leno Santa Caterina, James Volpe, and Manager Borin. In this year's big meet, all five of the Blue and Gold harriers completed the long and difficult race and they should improve considerably, come 1942 season.

A CRUCIAL MOMENT IN THE MCKINLEY GAME

Triumphing in three out of the final four games of the 1941 season, Manley's up and coming Soccer team, coached by Mr. John Klem, gave warning to other Chicago high school aggregations to watch out for the Blue and Gold next year. After a rather shaky start, the young Manley booters, improving steadily with each game, finally hit a winning stride in the latter half of the campaign and salvaged what seemed to be a dismal record with their climactic windup. Much more might have been accomplished had not six of the more experienced players failed to return because of illness and departures. Nevertheless, Manley ended the season just one game under the .500 mark and proved to be no soft touch. Kelly, eventual Soccer City Champion, especially found the Blue and Gold a foe of worthy caliber as they were forced to go the limit in eking out their two one-goal victories. The Manley scoring peak for the year was achieved in the initial McKinley tilt when, clicking with professional precision, the Klemsters ground out an 8-2 triumph. Only three lettermen are graduating from this year's squad, which would ordinarily make any coach feel optimistic, but Coach Klem, remembering what might have been this year if . . . is keeping his fingers crossed and not making any predictions.

LEN FERDINAND:

When an injury unfortunately disabled one of the starting members of the 1941 Senior Basketball quintet, it was this burly senior who was called upon to fill the breach. Len responded by coming through in a big way and his performances in the important playoff games and the vital championship contest proved to be a big factor in achieving the coveted city title. It was at the defensive guard position that he was seen in action during most of his high school career, a spot just right for Len's aggressive style of play, which was most in evidence when the going was toughest.

NORMAN SILBER:

Recognized as one of the finest defensive cagers that Manley has ever produced, Norm has been displaying his talents to appreciative Manley students for the past two and one-half years. Invariably playing cool, steady, consistent basketball, opposing teams have long been aware of Norm's amazing ability to snare the elusive spheroid as it rebounds from the defensive backboard. He saved one of his best games for a very important occasion, the championship tilt of 1941, when, besides performing in his usual sterling defensive manner, he also tallied enough points to tie for scoring honors.

PHILIP MANKOFF:

Amazingly enough, this husky merman, leader of Manley's lifeguards, couldn't swim a stroke when he first entered the school. But with characteristic determination, guided by expert instruction and spending long hours at practice, Phil soon developed into a proficient swimmer and into a capable instructor as well. As right hand man to Coach Klem, Phil has aided in the development of Manley's life saving corps into one of the finest in the city. Incidentally, Phil cleaves through his studies with the same, sure, steady strokes that he uses while swimming the mile.

ARTHUR SLUSER:

This quietly efficient booter has been a mainstay of Manley soccer teams for the past three years during which time his smooth, steady style of play, adaptable to almost any position, has paved the way to many a Blue and Gold triumph. Art has been recognized as a valuable team player by other city Soccer coaches, who named him on the All-City Soccer team in 1939. Acting as captain for the past two years, his departure will be a serious loss to Manley Soccer for Art undoubtedly ranks as one of Manley's athletic elite.

ALBERT LEBOYER:

This veteran cager of three years service is the battling, hustling type of player that always brings a smile of appreciation to a coach's face. Albert, or, as he is more commonly called, "Babe" is a team player in every sense of the word and his dynamic qualities of leadership were recognized in this, his last season as he was rewarded with the captaincy of the Junior Basketball squad. Combining his sparkling defensive work with a steady flow of scoring power, Babe has proven himself to be one of the most versatile cagers at Manley in recent years.

MORRIS SQUIRE:

A veteran of six semesters of lifeguard work, Morry is chief assistant to Capt. Mankoff and as such, ranks as the number two cog in the Manley lifesaving machine. In this world of specialization, Morry's forte is teaching the finer points of sport, such as plain and fancy diving, to the more experienced swimmers, and he derives genuine pleasure from his work. Morry's success in this field has been noticed and appreciated by the Manley Physical Education Department and he well deserves All-Star selection in view of the commendable job he has been doing since he joined the lifeguard corps.

SHERMAN BLOCK:

Sherman has been an integral part of the soccer squad for the past two years. A successful season was brought to a close when Sherman had to quit the squad due to a troublesome appendix in his first soccer year. He immediately volunteered to assume the tasks of the team manager. His doctor gave him the green light the following year, however, and Sherman once again menaced the opposing booters.

HAROLD ORDMAN:

"Bush" Ordman has amazed both basketball fans and coaches alike by his ability to get the ball into the round hoop. He has demonstrated this quality many times in the past two years as the offensive threat of the Junior team. As a final reward "Bush" was chosen as co-captain of the lights and the winner of an All-City forward berth in his last year.

SAMEUS MARCUS:

Sammy has achieved a tennis record that few can equal. With his speed and stroking power co-captain Marcus has maintained his position as a singles player on the regular squad for three full years. This modest net-man is also well known for his winning and friendly personality. Besides his tennis prowess Sammy is a veteran cheer leader and was chosen the captain of the squad in his last year.

HARRY BROHMAN:

When Harry transferred from Harrison to Manley it was indeed a stroke of luck for our heavies. His aggressiveness and ability on the basketball floor is only matched by his popularity and good fellowship. Although he played on the squad for only one season Harry was able to fit in perfectly to the Blum style of play. His defensive skill made him the mainstay of the Senior team.

BENNETT WEXLER:

Acting in the capacity of co-captain, Bennett Wexler has been the "brains" and the defensive spark of the lights. Bennett led all other members of the Junior team as the chief rebound retriever. Always a fighting player Bennett's aggressiveness made him the key man in the assist department. According to Coach Naiman, "Bennett Wexler ranks among the top Junior cagers in the city."

JAMES PEDTKE:

Jimmy, the smallest man on the Seniors, has been a forward on the squad for two years. After finishing his sophomore year at St. Patrick's High School, Jimmy transferred to Manley in 1940. He immediately joined the heavies and became an important part of the team's march to a city championship. His elusive style of attack plus his all around mastery of hardwood tactics rates Jimmy an All-Star position.

JULIEN BERNSTEIN:

Julien has earned his All-Star berth with a fine record of valuable service topped off by his swimming ability. He has been with the Life Guard squad for the past seven semesters. As the Life Guard chief, Julien is the head student member of the squad. He is a great help to underclassmen endeavoring to learn swimming fundamentals, and his enthusiastic aid to Coach Klem has been an invaluable help in the administrative end of the squad.

HARRY NAIMAN

THEODORE BLUM

JOHN KLEM

Boys' Gym Faculty

Although he has only been at Manley for three years Coach John Klem is at the helm of three important gymnasium activities. During his first year at Manley, Mr. Klem turned out the third ranking soccer squad in the city. Since then his soccer teams have always been a serious threat to the section championship. Coach Klem is also in charge of the life guards and the gym leaders.

Besides receiving a degree at De Paul University, Mr. Klem has studied at Chicago Teachers' College, George Williams College and the University of Chicago.

Coach Harry Naiman has been at Manley for the past nine years and he is still addicted to the habit of producing strong, contending Junior Basketball teams. Mr. Naiman has had his teams well up in the running every year since he has been at the helm. His teams have snared section titles for six consecutive years, and they have come off with the city championship three times. Coach Naiman studied at the American College of Physical Education and at De Paul. Also coaching the tennis team, Mr. Naiman's long term of valuable service is recognized and appreciated by his fellow teachers and students.

The oldest member in point of service of the male physical education department, Ted Blum is launching his second decade of body and character building at Manley. Mr. Blum, who holds degrees from both Illinois and Iowa Universities, devotes most of his interschool coaching to Cross Country and Senior Basketball. He finally achieved a coach's greatest feat in 1941 when he piloted the Heavies to their first City Championship. His quiet, capable, unassuming manner has gained the deep respect both of those he has taught and those with whom he is teaching.

Girls' Gym Faculty

Mrs. Talitha Bannon is well known among the girls as a true friend as well as a teacher. She has been a member of the gym faculty for seven and a half years. Girls go unhesitatingly to Mrs. Bannon when in need of medical aid or advice.

Besides teaching gym, health and swimming, Mrs. Bannon supervises all the intramural games and schedules, and also umpires the championship intramural games. In addition to these many regular duties, this instructor still finds time and energy for the Folk Dancing Club which she has helped to develop into one of Manley's outstanding clubs.

Miss Felicia Ponte is the substitute for Mrs. Eleanor Sonnichsen who is away on sabbatical leave.

Miss Ponte has taken over the swimming, gym, and health classes. She has shown herself capable of assuming the responsibilities of a regular teacher.

As sponsor of the Swim Club and the girls' life guards, Miss Ponte has done a great deal in the way of furthering interest in swimming.

Although she may be only a substitute teacher, Miss Ponte is a "Regular Feller".

Miss Tobey Silbert is known among the students as a considerate and helpful friend. Her cheerful attitude has won the respect and admiration of all the students.

Miss Silbert has been instrumental in accumulating a library of health books dealing with the problems of girls throughout life. She has been promoting the division of health classes so that more problems may be solved for the individual girl.

As sponsor of the G.A.A., Miss Silbert has promoted various activities among the members. She is also the sponsor of the "M" Club.

Because she is an excellent athlete and a sincere teacher, students are inspired to do their best under her tutelage.

The 1942 chapter of the Girls' Athletic Association has been one of the most successful to be recorded in their book of memories. The G.A.A. is striving to assist athletically inclined girls in furthering their interest in active sports and developing the innate spirit of good sportsmanship.

Being the oldest and largest organization at Manley, the G.A.A. is gathering momentum day by day. Its members are continually striving for a bigger and better group. A variety of interests await the prospective member. Among these are swimming, hiking, baseball, volleyball, and horseback riding! After four semesters, a member who has earned 1000 points by participating in athletic and health-promoting activities is eligible for the coveted G.A.A. "M". Points are given for excelling not only in athletics but also in scholarship, leadership, and sportsmanship. After having received a letter, the G.A.A. member strives to adorn it with chevrons, earned by additional points.

This year the G.A.A. enlarged the possibility of points by adding bowling and horseback riding to the list of activities. Dancing clubs have been formed and the members dance to the music of a nickelodeon purchased by the organization. This Christmas the G.A.A. presented a defense bond to the G.A.A. of 1952 in hopes that they would carry on in the same tradition.

The administrative duties of the G.A.A. are vested in a newly organized council under the sponsorship of Miss Tobey Silbert. This body plans the program of activities and functions of the organization. The officers this year were: Pearl Stoller, president; Frances Millman, vice-president; Alice Cutler, secretary; and Doris Segal, treasurer.

The members are doing a fine job living up to their motto:

IT TAKES A LEVEL HEAD TO WIN, A LEVEL HAND, A LEVEL EYE . . . BUT SOMETIMES, EVEN WHEN YOU TRY YOUR LEVEL BEST, THINGS GO AWRY. YOU DROP THE BALL, YOU MISS YOUR AIM, YOU SLIP A COG AND QUEER THE GAME . . . THEN COMES THE TEST . . . DON'T MAKE EXCUSE; DON'T CRUMPLE; STAND UP IN YOUR SHOES . . . REMEMBER . . . IN A CERTAIN SENSE, IT TAKES A LEVEL HEAD TO LOSE.

Girls' Intramurals place Emphasis on Physical Fitness

Guns and ammunition alone will not win the war. The modern war machine demands not only a stout and loyal heart but also a strong arm and a generally robust physique, not only for men but for women and girls as well. Having recognized this need, the Chicago Public School system has this year put greater emphasis on the girls' physical training program by sponsoring and encouraging various intramural contests among groups.

Manley in particular is furthering this cause. The intramurals of this season consisted of a volley ball tournament, a soft ball tournament held in the spring, and a captain-basketball competition in the fall. The captain-basketball tournament has won great favor among the girl athletes and the results thus far are: Fourth year champs, 4A-3; Third year champs, 3A-1; 2A-4 and 2B-5 are playing for the honor of the sophomore championship and 1A-1 leads in the freshman games. The winners of the volley ball and soft ball tournaments have not yet been chosen and will be determined by the single elimination process.

"M" Club

All girls who have earned G.A.A. letters are eligible for membership in the "M" Club, a social organization under the sponsorship of Miss Silbert. The club aims to promote physical education among the alumnae. The former Manleyites remain members and aspire in time to see their children become "M" Club members. The present two hundred fifty members, most of whom have joined since 1936, meet every two months at the Jewish Peoples Institute. The active school members are planning a splash party in the Manley pool this spring. This is going to be a mixed party, and the first of its kind.

LEAH RABINOVITZ:

"Lee" is an all-star scholar as well as an all-star athlete. As the president of the Red Cross Club she has indeed exemplified a "good will" spirit. In spite of her various activities, Leah is still able to find time to indulge in her favorite sports, captain-basketball and hiking.

LUCILLE ZULLO

"Lucy" is one of the stars of the intramurals champs. She acts as chairman of the group and directs the softball, volley ball and captain - basketball teams. However, she is especially excellent in baseball, and many of the girls have nicknamed her the "Babe Ruth" of the girls' gym. Lucille has certainly contributed her share to upholding the title which former Manley teams have left.

all -

MARIE TRAINA:

Pretty "Mer" has been invaluable as a pool assistant for four semesters. In addition to her swimming prowess, and her fine work on the intramural swimming team this semester, Marie has also achieved honors as a top-notch bowler and captain-basketball player.

LILLIAN SANTANA:

"Lil" needs no introduction for she has definitely made a place for herself in the gym and classroom. Proof of this is found in the fact that she has received a civic award, and has been appointed intramural chairman. As captain of the basketball team she has helped boost her team up to a fourth place position.

RAE MEVORAH:

The Senior girls have shown their liking for Rae, and their confidence in her ability, by electing her secretary of the P.A.L.S., the graduating girls' social organization. Any group would welcome Rae, for she is pleasant and versatile. Prominent among her activities are fencing, volley ball, and badminton. She has conducted several swimming classes, and excels in water sports.

RUTH GREEN:

A brilliant student and a fine athlete, Ruth has distinguished herself in various activities. Active in Folk Games, and secretary of the 4A G.A.A. representatives, Ruth is also participating at present in the badminton tournament. She has an enviable record both scholastically and athletically, and certainly deserves an all-star rating.

Stars

ANNE ARONESTI:

Anne is an all-star in every sense of the word. Outstanding in every sport in which she participates, she has been especially active in the G.A.A. Aside from being a prominent athlete, Anne has been a civic leader too. Her influence has been felt in the Student Council and almost every phase of student life. However, Annie is still a "regular fella" in spite of the various honors conferred upon her.

OTTAVIA STALLONE:

"Midge" is the best proof of the old adage that "good things come in small packages". Socially inclined, she is in charge of all G.A.A. social affairs. Ottavia is very proud of her membership in the "M" Club, and of having been selected as a finalist in the posture contest. She is an asset to any baseball, badminton, or fencing group.

BEVERLY CHOVIS:

Beverly's sweet disposition and lovely manners have endeared her to all who know her. As president of the G.A.A. representatives, she is in close contact with the G.A.A. and a great help in planning the current functions of that organization. She has also been elected secretary of the Folk Games, where she is outstandingly active.

LORRAINE GAVRYS:

Lorraine is the proud possessor of four chevrons which are tangible evidence of her excellence in sports, and her continuous participation in G.A.A. affairs. Among her well-deserved awards is the "M" symbolizing the G.A.A. and entitling her to membership in the "M" Club. Lorraine has been invaluable to the Gym Office Staff and will be greatly missed.

Gym Assistants

The gym clerks, pool assistants, and clerical workers are all volunteers working for G.A.A. service points. The pool assistants are qualified Red Cross Life Savers and the gym assistants who have proved their ability in some particular sport.

This semester the girls have assumed even greater responsibilities by being placed in charge of racquets, balls, bats, nets, and various other equipments which the girls use in regular gym activities and the lost and found. They are also mending tank suits in order to prepare for the coming shortage. The girls are of great aid in the gym and are displaying initiative and cooperation in all their undertakings.

SWIM MARATHON

Manley Swim Marathon groups chose their symbols advisedly. They dive and splash with the grace of the flying fish and submerge with the speed and efficiency of a submarine. These aquatic feats are performed every Tuesday from two o'clock until four and consist of a three mile swim under the direction of Miss Silbert. There are thirty-five swimmers among whom are quite a few freshmen. Irene Mann of the Manley Mermaids holds the record of a continuous two year victory and is leading this year with keen competition from Shirley Warsaw. The winners will be awarded bronze medals and blue ribbons.

House of Representatives

The paramount purpose of a school system is to prepare youth to take a useful place in society. In keeping with this theory our educational system can be construed as having two objectives. One is a materialistic aim, in which the student is prepared for a commercial world. The other objective is a cultural one, in which the more abstract ideals of beauty, culture, and the democratic way of thinking are taught. It is toward these latter objectives, practicing and teaching democracy, that Manley's Student Council has striven since its formation almost eight years ago.

First perfecting democracy in its own organization, the Council has developed a highly democratic student government. Each member is a responsible chairman of a committee made up of members of the House of Representatives, and each committee has a faculty sponsor who is chairman of a parallel faculty committee. The Council, the regular and special committees, and individual members are all taking active and important parts in Manley's many activities, besides arranging new activities. The perfection and smooth efficiency of our Council and House of Representatives due to the pervading spirit of Manley, is a source of wonder to those who take the trouble to compare it to other school student governments.

The Student Council is made up of two students from each grade, except 1B, elected by the students of that grade for a term of one school year. Officers are elected from the members of the Council, the president being a fourth year student. The House of Representatives is composed of one student from each division in the school. Miss McGurk as guiding spirit of these partner organizations has been one of the prime reasons for the successful achievement of their goals.

Societies

National

The National Honor Society is a very unique scholastic organization in that its members are not accepted solely on the basis of their intellectual endowments. Possession of a membership card from the National Honor Society by a high school student, signifies that he is regarded by the faculty as a student who has exhibited superior qualities of leadership and character as well as those studious attributes which make for erudition. In this way, those students blessed with above-average intelligence, are encouraged to display a certain amount of leadership which should naturally balance intellect.

Too many of the brighter element have a propensity to be content to rest upon their scholastic laurels while refusing to offer their assistance in making school life more interesting.

The members of the Manley chapter of the National Honor Society certainly cannot be included in the latter category of students. Under the guidance of Miss Roehl, these progressive young folks have played a major part in school life both individually and collectively.

Foremost among their activities, was the organization of civilian defense corps in Manley in cooperation with the city-wide Civilian Defense effort.

Since it stands for these virtues which the schools are attempting to develop in the youth of America, the National Honor Society has become one of the most dominating factors at Manley.

Civic Award

Truly representative of the Spirit of Manley is the Civic Award, which is given, not for achievement in any one field, but for good citizenship and cooperation as a whole.

A student may start working for an "M" from the time he enters Manley. Points are given for service, scholastic distinction, activity participation, and civic attitude. The awards are presented in the 4B semester to those who most merit the honor.

Manley is proud of its Civic Award students who are always on the job — ready to do the right thing at the right time.

B. M. C.

The Beautify Manley Committee has done much in making Manley High School and the neighboring community more attractive and pleasing to the eye. The B.M.C. is largely responsible for our lovely campus. The appearance of the streets and alleys, lawns and houses in the vicinity of Manley have improved considerably since the committee launched its program.

In addition to its regular program of community improvement the B.M.C. has taken over many defense duties. It now sponsors the drive for conservation of waste paper, and the sale of defense stamps. Much of its good work is due to the fine leadership of Miss Holbrook, faculty sponsor.

Boots and Saddle Club

"Variety is the spice of life." Anyone who isn't content merely with the daily dozen and who wants something that is a little daring and different in the way of exercise, may join the Boots and Saddle Club. Every Tuesday, rain or shine, thirty-five enthusiastic equestrians are seen galloping with grace and skill on the bridle paths. After one of these gay excursions you will want to stand up and cheer or, at any rate, just stand. Although it is one of Manley's youngest, the Boots and Saddle Club has risen rapidly in popularity. Much credit is due to Miss Ponte, a fine leader and sponsor.

Folk Games

Do-si-do and around we go! These and other echoes of the past may be heard every Tuesday afternoon in the girls' gym, where the members of the Folk Games Club meet. There they study the music to which their forebears in this and other lands used to trip the light fantastic.

Their sponsors, Mr. Bale, Mr. Bossing, and Mrs. Bannon, are not just passive leaders, but join in the fun of "rug-cutting" as it was practiced in the last century. Nor does this club restrict itself to its once-a-week meeting. Its members take a real joy in folk dancing and occasionally go out to Western Springs, the home of Mr. Bossing, to tread the measure with the "home town" boys and girls. For to these young people, folk dancing is not a dead art; it is as vital as the "jive" of their own generation, and a lot of fun at that!

Library

The library assistants under the sponsorship of our respected Miss Blodgett, have for the first time formed a club which meets every other Tuesday at 2 o'clock. The purpose of the club is to study the phases of library work which include card cataloging, shelving, reference, and a general knowledge of the books themselves. In this way the library assistants are able to give the maximum efficient aid to the students. The officers are Lillian Dolin, president; and Marilyn Fligilman, treasurer.

Any student on the library staff is eligible for membership. The members of the club, numbering seventy-six at present, will receive Civic Award points for their service in the library.

"Show your tickets, please, show your tickets!" Thus we find the ushers in action at our various assemblies.

Manley may well be proud of this estimable organization whose members maintain order during assemblies, care for stage property, and act as fire marshals in the auditorium when necessary. Adorned in their blue and gold jackets, the Manley ushers stand ready to act in a courteous, tactful manner, and may justly be termed "Manley's Minute Men."

Mr. Laforce, who so ably trained these ushers, has been inducted into the armed services, and Mr. Mason will supervise in his absence.

Ushers

Fire Marshals

Cling, cling, cling . . . the fire alarm sounds and the fire marshals quickly take up their positions at their assigned posts. Soon a steady stream of classes is seen to be emerging from the building. A student in each group bears a sign with the number of his room upon it which is checked by a fire marshal at the exit. One watching this exhibition of exacting, clocklike precision would hardly guess that more than 2500 persons are leaving the school in the remarkably short time of three or four minutes.

The Fire Marshals are sponsored by Mr. Bayer and together with the cooperation of Robert Jacobson, Chief Fire Marshal for the past two semesters, much has been done to make the fire marshals the capable, efficient body that it is. The standard of the fire drills has rapidly improved in the past to make the drills the well organized ones that they are today.

Mun-sew-nettes

Workers in the Personnel Office may be Civic Award workers, N.Y.A. or Clerical Practice students. Valuable experience is gained in doing the clerical work, and Miss Wilson offers a striking example of industry.

Clerical Practice is one of the organizations at Manley High School which gives its members concrete training for future life. The members learn the many practical functions of a clerical worker. Miss Delehanty, the faculty sponsor of the class, patiently trains these young people in the operation of mimeograph machines, comptometers, typewriters, filing cabinets and other implements of an efficiently run office.

Miss Meyers, who has had many years of stenographic experience, sponsors the Take a Letter Club. The organization was established by the "S" shorthand class of June 1941 for the purpose of acquainting prospective stenographers with the many problems of the business world. Added skill in stenography is also gained through intense practice in taking dictation.

*Clerical

Red Cross

England had its Florence Nightingale, America its Clara Barton, and Manley has its Red Cross workers. In the true spirit of any Red Cross organization the club has made one hundred fifteen blankets for refugee mothers, collected ash trays and utility bags for the men in service, and is working at present on tray favors for Easter and yarn dolls to adorn the dresses of youngsters. The club is financed by contributions from students and teachers.

Miss Cunningham is the enthusiastic sponsor of the Red Cross Club, which already boasts fifty members. The officers of the club are Leah Rabinowitz, President; Richard Ganze, Vice-president; Dorothy Alperowich, Secretary; and Irene Mann, Treasurer.

The Red Cross Club is a fine example, not only of the spirit of Manley, but also, the spirit of the times.

Safety Club

"It pays to be careful — if you aren't, you pay!" This is one of the many helpful and catchy slogans originated by the Safety Engineers of Manley. The Safety Engineers, a comparatively new organization, is charged with the highly important duty of promoting safety-consciousness both in school and at home. One of the tangible evidences of their industry is the familiar safety placards posted in the corridors.

The members of the organization are representatives from each division in the school and are under the able leadership of Mrs. Skobel.

Klub Kavell

Rounding out another active year, Klub Kavell has made rapid strides in manifesting its spirit of good will. Kavell girls have admirably succeeded in their purpose by contributing to the school welfare fund on many occasions. Their activities are not limited to regular bi-weekly meetings. They have sponsored several social affairs to raise money for charity. Their success is made possible because of an enthusiastic, responsive membership. Much credit and thanks are due to the faculty adviser, Mr. Bale.

HALL

Realizing that order in the corridors is an essential feature of any school, three members of our faculty, Miss Jordan, Mrs. Mittendorf, and Mr. Bale collaborated and introduced the present hall guard system, relieving Mr. Taintor of its supervision. He formerly had the triple duty of hall guard supervision, locker supervision and Civic Award chairman. Each room is provided with a wooden pass and this is the only pass which is honored in the halls. Pupils are not allowed to go to lockers during the class period. A captain and lieutenant check the attendance and see that the guards are at their posts. Besides the regular hall guards on each floor there is a faculty member to help enforce the rules.

A point system has been instituted whereby one may earn a letter. A regular hall guard receives five points a semester while a lieutenant gets seven points and a captain eight. Extra points are given for corridor duty during the first or ninth periods. When the grand total of twenty-five points is reached, the hall guard is awarded a letter.

As soon as the new plan was put into effect a marked improvement was noticed. Our "custodians of the corridors" are keeping a stringent watch and certainly upholding our dignity, for a school is not only judged by the honors its students earn but also by its manners. A visitor to our school is first impressed by the attitude of the students passing in the corridors. The manner in which the Manley-ites have responded to the new system is truly representative of Manley.

MANLEY CAPTURES SHIELD IN TEN MOVES

Perseverance has been the motto of the chess men. "Checking" in at second place last year the team returned in a body to try again. Their determination to win was rewarded when they brought Manley its only city title this year. Playing far from cheering crowds the group continued to play in top form to bring home the coveted crown in true Manley spirit.

The team was sponsored by Mr. Sullivan who left us in mid-semester to serve Uncle Sam. This little publicized but unconquered team consisted of captain Sidney Moss, Jack Haddad, Jack Lubovitz, Irving Rubin, Marvin Singer and Elliott Kleinman.

"WANTED:—Manley students who are willing to come to school early and to stay late. Must be able to carry 95 pounds of equipment and to spend time learning how to operate four different kinds of machines. Must spend a period per day working in 317A. All interested see Mrs. Foster."

The present members of the Visual Education Department have at one time or another qualified to the above requirements. This group, under the direction of Mrs. Foster, is in complete charge of the handling of the movie machines, the spotlights, and the public address system. Details such as receiving new movies, shipping the old ones, giving assignments to operators, and posting the lists of films on hand are also competently handled by the staff.

The operators are doing fine work, during study periods and before and after school to give Manley the full benefit of its splendid equipment.

Conclusion

Though years may dim youths' memories, and age may darken life's luster, these things alone remain timeless, indestructible by man's forces:

- the practice of Democracy
- the joy of Creation
- the appreciation of Beauty
- the quest for Learning
- the search for Truth.

To these things civilized humanity has dedicated itself—and for these things, embodied in the SPIRIT OF MANLEY, fondest of our Manley Memories, must we strive.
